University Debates Next Step in Potentially Hazardous Program of Genetic Research

Laboratory experiments in genetic recombination sound more remote to the average citizen than the work of Viking spacecraft on Mars.

Yet Princeton University, trying to decide whether to undertake such research, regards the experiments as potentially so hazardous that it has appointed a special study committee, and has advised Princeton's municipal officials that such lab experiments are a future possibility.

At least one biochemist living in Princeton is concerned enough to express the views of a professional, to urge prudence and to ask that the Princeton community be kept informed. (See Mailbox, page 16.) She reminds the University and Princeton officials that the governing body of Cambridge, Mass., voted this summer to stop construction of a specialized laboratory being built by Harvard.

Recombinant genetic research involves the production, in the lab, of new forms of genetic material. This material is then inserted into a foreign body for propagation.

DNA---the basic material that determines the hereditary characteristics of all known cells---is a big, double-helix-shaped molecule. When scientists take a fragment of DNA from one living cell and incorporate it into another, a new, active "recombinant" gene is formed. Experiments involve inserting such genes into organisms, like bacteria.

As the letter-writer points out, scientists so far have been working with the bacterium called E. coli because so much is known about it. This bacterium, a normal resident of the human digestive tract, can easily enter the body through mouth or nose. If scientists in a particular lab had been introducing genes from cancer viruses into E. coli, for example, the potential danger is obvious.

Guidelines for such research were issued this June by the National Institutes of Health, after three years of study, which began when scientists engaged in recombinant DNA research called for a moratorium while risks were evaluated and guidelines developed.

The month before the NIH guidelines were published, President William G. Bowen of Princeton appointed a Biohazards Subcommittee of the University Research Board. This sub-committee is expected to report late this fall, making recommendations about construction of labs, evaluating hazards and weighing scientific advantages. The sub-committee is also charged with being a watchdog and making sure safety levels are maintained.

But biochemists and other scientists, like the concerned researcher in this week's "Mailbox," ask what constitutes "safe standards?" Human error, mechanical break-

Home-Owners to be Mailed Tax Rebate Forms; $180 for Borough Residents, Township, $190

Next year, every Borough home-owner will receive $180 and every Township home-owner $190 as a rebate under the New Jersey income-tax law. Half will be mailed in April, the rest in October.

You will receive, probably around October 10, the completed form for your property, filled out by Mercer County's computer with all the tax data for your home.

All you have to do is fill in your Social Security number, sign the form and return it to the tax assessor. Forms must be returned to the assessor no later than November 1.

At press-time, the legislature was still considering measures that would provide for direct credit on your tax bill, instead of a rebate check in the mail. Some legislators were said to feel it might be better, psychologically, if taxpayers could actually hold a rebate check in the hand. A check-off system is favored by others because it would save money, but the reduced municipal tax figure might adversely affect Federal revenue-sharing.

If the rebate is handled as a check and you must send in the form, there are certain things you must fill in yourself, which aren't on the county's computer program.

If either husband or wife is over 65, the family is entitled to another $50. If either is handicapped, there is also a $50 rebate. If you are the survivor of a couple and are over 55, there is a rebate also. All of these statements must be filled out by you yourself before you mail the form to the assessor.

Incidentally, it's up to the local assessor to accept or reject proof of your age.

The county is charging for this service, and the estimated cost is $400 for the Borough and $840 for the Township. This includes the county's fee, plus envelopes and postage.

Jostling each other to be Public Servants, both Republicans and Democrats in the Borough are distributing leaflets about the rebate.

The all-Democratic Borough Council urges home-owners to call members of Council's finance committee–two of whom happen to be running for office–if they need help. The flyer says "Borough of Princeton" at the top, doesn't mention Democrats, includes the name of the Republican mayor with the Democrats on the finance committee, but does not say anywhere who paid for the flyer.

Republicans, in their flyer, remark in capital letters that "The Democrats gave you the income tax." They list some questions and answers, and thoughtfully provide not only telephone numbers but photographs of their candidates, urging voters to call if there are questions. The Republicans say on the flyer that it wasn't paid for "with Borough taxpayers' money," but by the Republican Club.

CONSULTANTS NAMED

For Choice of Superintendent. The school board announced its superintendent-consultants Tuesday night, and made two administrative appointments.

Estelle Browne, art teacher at Princeton High School and former director of the schools' Wednesday Program, has been appointed acting assistant principal of the high school, filling in for Florence Burke.

Miss Burke is now the acting principal of Riverside School, appointed to that job when Riverside's principal, Edith Francis, was made acting superintendent. When the permanent superintendent is chosen the game will be reversed and all three will go back to their original starting places.

Norma Gumbiner, Riverside teacher, has been hired as the resource person under the state's thorough-and-efficient requirements.

Selection of a permanent superintendent came closer Tuesday night when the board voted to hire three consultants whom it will form into a team.

The first step, the board said, will be to decide what kind of person the community wants as superintendent. As a start, the consultants will spend Wednesday, October 27, in the school system and community, talking with staff, students, parents and community groups.

That evening, the board will hold a public meeting at 8 p.m. in Community Park, and everyone who wants to comment is invited to do so.

The board will use all this information to draw up a description of job and person, sending out a brochure and announcing the job-opening through advertisements and through people known to the consultants.

Residents of the community are also invited to submit the names of candidates. Applications will be sent to them as well.

When the applications are in, the consultants will screen them, with board supervision, and will recommend five or six finalists. After interviews, additional investigations and community visits, the board will make its selection.

Dr. Carroll F. Johnson, of Teachers College, Columbia University, will lead the team. His colleagues will be Dr. Edythe J. Gaines, superintendent of schools in Hartford, Connecticut, and Dr. John Brubacher, chairman of the department of educational administration at the University of Connecticut at Storrs.

All three have been both teachers and administrators, and have worked in the elementary grades as well as at the high school and college level. Dr. Johnson has helped over 30 boards of education choose new superintendents; Dr. Brubacher, in his position in Connecticut, has had wide experience in helping with the search for superintendents, and Dr. Gaines, the school board reports, is noted for creativity in educational administration.

MEETING REQUESTED

On I-95. In a brief meeting Thursday, trimmed so that everyone could get home for the first Presidential debate, Township Committee heard Committee member Josie Hall thank Transportation Commissioner Alan Sagner for agreeing to create an advisory group of citizens to monitor progress on the I-95 environmental study.

Then Mrs. Hall urged the Township to write Mr. Sagner again, asking for an I-95 meeting of the Princetons. Attending I-95 meetings elsewhere in the region, she said, "was almost as though I were interfering in the affairs of another community."

She also pointed out that the DOT hasn't yet agreed to consider the turnpike as an I-95 alternative.

Committee greeted John A. Meyers, who will serve as zoning officer and building inspector starting this Friday after the retirement of W.J. Shinn.

In a resolution of appreciation, Committee spoke of its affection for Mr. Shinn, his integrity, sound judgment and conscientiousness. He is retiring after 20 years in the zoning post.

Committee also named Rosalind Frisch, 145 Ridgeview Circle, as the Parent-Teacher Organization representative to the Traffic Safety Committee.

"NOTHING NEW"

In Murder Investigation. It's been two weeks since Mrs. Sandra C. Kucks of Rocky Hill was found strangled in the rear seat of her station wagon parked on a gravel road in Montgomery Township.

But Detective Sergeant Robert L. McMahon of the Hopewell State Police, who is conducting the investigation, is still optimistic that her murderer will be caught. "You have to be," he said.

There is still "nothing at all new" in the progress of the investigation, Det. McMahon said Tuesday. "We're still interviewing people, still trying to place the victim after she left the house."

In working full time on the murder, Det. McMahon reported that several hundred friends and acquaintances in Mercer, Middlesex, Hunterdon and Somerset Counties have been interviewed. Many, he commented, are engaged in tennis in some way. "Tennis is a big thing."

Mrs. Kucks was a highly-ranked amateur tennis player and a frequent player on courts in the area.

BACK TO PLANNERS

For Townhouses. Design Interface's plan for 14 townhouses on the old University Cleaner's Moore Street site has been trimmed down to 11, and DI will present them next Tuesday at 8 p.m. to the Planning Board in public hearings at Borough Hall.

This is the first time Design Interface has been before the board since Timothy J. Sheehan went to court over the Borough Zoning Board's granting of bulk variances for the project. With 11 units, Design Interface does not need variances. The firm, part of the J. Robert Hillier enterprise, has a recommendation of approval from site plan reviewers, and the project has been classified as a major subdivision.

Aside from consideration of the Borough's capital budget, this is the only item on the board's agenda.

Genetic Research

down of equipment or simply the unexpected, are always a possibility in any lab situation.

The University itself has pointed out an incident in one of its own labs. According to the Princeton Weekly Bulletin, Dr. Arnold Levine, professor of biochemistry, said his lab may unexpectedly have produced a potential hybrid virus, formed through genetic recombination.

These viruses, Dr. Levine explained, could grow only in temperatures lower than those in the human body and it wasn't clear whether they were even hybrid viruses at all. However, just to be on the safe side, researchers stopped the project and made the viruses completely inactive by deep freezing. Later, at another institution, which has biohazard facilities, Dr. Levine demonstrated, he said, that there were no detectable recombinant viruses in the original experiments at Princeton.

The ad hoc committee formed as a result of this incident said Dr. Levine's precautions seemed perfectly adequate, and recommended establishment of the present sub-committee.

Opinions Sought. "The University wants comments from within its own community and also from the outside," says John I. Merritt, assistant director of communications. "We are very sensitive to how the public feels. Whether to undertake research of this kind is definitely not a predetermined thing. The University does, however, want to update its life-sciences research, and recombination is only a part of that kind of research."

He explained that the NIH has blocked out four levels of research. P-1 is the kind done in any high-school lab; P-2 is the kind Princeton University is now doing; P-3 is the potentially hazardous kind, now under way at Harvard; P-4 is so advanced it's possible that it isn't being done anywhere.

No new building is now planned by the University, and Mr. Merritt says there hasn't been any decision, even, about where it would be.

Late this summer, Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley and Township Mayor Jay Bleiman had lunch with some University officials at the University's invitation, and talked about the problem.

"Nobody really knows much," says Mayor Cawley, "and that's part of the problem. It's like speculations about radiation before there was anything tangible. Remember in the 1930s and before, when factory workers moking radium-dial watches were dying?"

Danger of Spreading. "The significant difference between this kind of research and radiation," Mayor Cawley continues, "is that radiation is limited in location and does, eventually, decrease. These mutants could spread, and threaten the world – not just Princeton."

"But if you want to attract promising biologists, you would need this kind of facility," the mayor acknowledges. "If the town says this is a risk we cannot alow, then we're imposing limitations on a very important sector of the community – the University."

If the University constructs a special lab, Mayor Cawley told University officials, both Princeton governments want to be sure police and fire fighters are thoroughly briefed. He also wants the University to brief its own staff in this area as thoroughly as possible. The mayor added,

"I guess I'd have to say, too, if it's going to be somewhere, why not here?"

The head of the Biohazards Subcommittee is Robert May, of the department of biology. Other members are Raju Kucherlapati (biochemistry); Austin Newton (biology); Dr. Levine; John Hopfield (physics); Herman Somers (politics); David F. Ollis (chemical engineering); Willard Dalrymple (health services) and Jack Faust (occupational health and safety). Nan Wells (Office of Research and Project Administration) is the non-voting secretary.

at an invitational cocktail party addressed by Dr. Seymour Charles, proponent of preventive medicine who spoke on the health hazards of radiation, and Dr. David Morell who explained "co-generation," the production of energy from steam.

Underscoring the non-partisan nature of the CRPP, speakers were introduced by Senator Anne Martindell, New Jersey Assembly Democrat, and Republican Congresswoman Millicent Fenwick.

Guests were reminded that New Jersey utility companies are planning to build ten nuclear power plants by 1986, and that one such plant is already operating in the state's shore area. CRPP, which plans its second annual workshop, on energy late this fall, fosters the study of energy policies, promotes action against numclear energy policies that may present serious risks, supports practical energy alternatives and provides information on these subjects to the public.

Inquiries about membership and contributions may be addressed to Mrs. William Henry Sayen, 167 Edgerstoune Road, Princeton.

CIGARETTES BLAMED

For Hun Road House Fire. Cigarette butts placed in a container under the sink were the cause, police said, of a fire Sunday evening at the home of Geoffrey Nunes, 84 Hun Road. No one was home at the time.

Four pieces of fire equipment from Hook and Ladder and No. 1 responded to a 9:55 call by Mrs. Moore Gates Jr. of 96 Hun Road. Police said that the counter area under the sink was damaged and cabinets blistered by the heat. There was smoke damage throughout the house.

Student Survives 11,000-Volt Shock from 'Dinky'

Blair Richardson, 20, a Princeton University sophomore, remains in critical condition in Brooke Army Medical Center, the special burn treatment facility in San Antonio, Texas, four days after he touched the electrified pantagraph on the roof of the "Dinky" and received burns on his face, body, hand and feet.

He was accompanied by a freshman, Catherine Carter, 18, of Holder Hall, who received burns of the foot and fingers. She was treated at McCosh Infirmary and released. Between 11,000 and 13,000 volts of electricity surged through Richardson's body when he touched the pantagraph, which was in contact with the overhead powerline.

Chief Michael Carnevale reported that the police investigation has revealed that when Richardson touched the pantagraph, the initial shock caused an explosion which was heard by residents in nearby Spelman Hall. At the time, Miss Carter, police said, had her hand on his shoulder. A lesser shock was transmitted through her.

Whenever there is such an explosion, Chief Carnevale continued, the power automatically shuts off. When that happens, a Conrail employee in a Newark control section pushes a button that automatically reactivates the power.

Secood Shock Follows. As a consequence, Richardson received a second shock, neither of which knocked him from the roof of the rail car. Her arm numb, Miss Carter managed to climb down and made her way to a telephone to call an ambulance.

Police initially received several calls at 2:39 in the morning reporting hearing an explosion. Sgt. Ralph Procaccino and Ptl. Robert Mucciarelli responded and notified the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad at 2:40. At 2:49 they reached the Conrail police and requested that the power be shut off.

The Rescue Squad, under direction of DeWitt Boice, wearing insulated clothing and working with insulated equipment, were able to loop a rope around the ankles of the semi-conscious Richardson and bring him down at 3:18. Chief Carnevale explained that even when the power is shut down, a "residue of surplus electricity" remains.

Richardson was rushed to Princeton Medical Center suffering, police said, from first and second degree burns over 80 percent of his body and third degree burns of his legs and feet.

An account in "The Daily Princetonian" reported that the couple had left the Pub on campus about 12:45 and then strolled around for an hour and a half before approaching the station on University Place. Richardson joked about taking the train to New York. Finding the Dinky locked, the two then climbed a ladder to the roof of the car.

Richardson, a resident of New York City, is a member of the University squash team. Miss Carter is from Greenville, Miss., where her father is editor-publisher of the Delta Democrat Times.

Chief Carnevale recalled a similar incident about 15 years ago when a University student climbed to the roof of the Dinky and was hurled to the ground when he accidentally came into contact with the powerline.

AND IN THE BOROUGH...

Appointments, Meetings. A variety of announcements came this week from Borough Hall in advance of Council's regular October meeting two weeks from now.

- The Borough needs two more volunteers for its Environmental Commission. Anyone interested may call Borough Hall at 924-3119.
- Council will hold a special meeting next Wednesday, October 6, at 7:30 p.m. to go over the proposed land-use ordinance. It is related to the state's new land-use law, and municipalities are required to cycle into this new law no later than next February 1.

The half-inch-thick draft was prepared by Gordon Griffin, who serves both Borough and Township as municipal attorney. The new state law is the one that would allow dissolution of the Princeton Regional Planning Board, and re-establishment of municipal boards.

It also changes appeal requirements where variances are concerned, changes the "notice" requirements of certain applications, and so on.

- The joint Borough-Township meeting on the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority's plans will be held Monday, October 18. Speakers will be Thomas Cawley, engineer and former Borough Council member who is the Borough's representative on the Authority; Tristam B. Johnson, the Authority's bond underwriter; Adele Mitchell, executive director of the Stony Brook-Millstone Watersheds Association and John Dunka, the Authority's consultant.
- Council will re-consider its rent levelling ordinance at the regular October 14 meeting.

PRINCETON AIDE KILLED

When Car Hits Pole. A service will be held Thursday at 11 a.m. in the Princeton University Chapel in memory of Mrs. Shirley R. Barker, 45, of Carter Road, Hopewell, who was killed early Friday morning when her station wagon ran off Route 27 in Franklin Township and struck a utility pole.

A former talent coordinator for the Johnny Carson television show, Mrs. Barker was manager of Princeton University's events office. She was a graduate of Penn Hall School and Stevens Jr. College.

She is survived by her husband, Joseph A. Barker, manager of the Nassau Club; her mother, C.A. Ahlstrom of Jenkintown, Pa. and her father, Alan Rich of Waynesboro, Pa. A private graveside service was held Monday under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Two Are Injured. A Hopewell Township resident and six-year old boy were injured over the weekend when their four-wheel drive vehicle skidded on a curve on spur Route 518 at Marshall's Corner and smashed into two trees.

Taken to the Mercer Medical Center were the driver, Robert J. Ongradi, 31, of Linvale-Woodsville Road, and Darren L. Reside, a family friend, who lives at 2349 Pennington Road. Both suffered fractured leg bones, lacerations and internal injuries.

It took more than an hour for the Hopewell Valley Rescue Squad to free the youth, who was trapped inside the crumpled vehicle.

Car, Motorcycle Collide. The driver of a motorcycle was injured last Wednesday evening when a car parked on Nassau between Pine and Chestnut pulled out into his path.

The impact sent William D. Shields, 26, 241 Varsity Avenue, Penns Neck, sliding along the roadway. He sustained abrasions of both hands and right leg and complained of feeling dizzy. He was treated at Princeton Medical Center.

Ptl. William Clark issued a summons for careless driving to the driver, Joseph C. Danko Jr., 34, of St. Paul, Minn.

RAPE CHARGE MADE

Against Monmouth Jct. Man. Harold Fischbein, 32, of Monmouth Junction was arrested last week in that community by Borough detectives who had a court warrant charging him with attempted rape and assault with intent to rape.

The alleged rape took place, police said, the evening of April 29 next to Little Hall on the Princeton University campus. The victim was a university student.

Fischbein was arrested by Detectives Timothy Huizing and Ronald Holliday, who conducted the investigation, aided by South Brunswick police. He was later released on 10 percent cash of $15,000 bail to await an appearance October 20 in Borough court.

2 JUVENILES CHARGED

on Palmer Square by Ptl. John Reppy, who charged them with drinking beer.

An investigation by Ptl. Reppy and Sgt. Thomas Procaccino allegedly revealed that the youths had purchased the beer from Cousins liquor store on the square. They were processed by Borough juvenile officer Douglas Watson and released.

Chief Michael Carnevale said that charges would be made against the liquor store and the clerk who sold them the beer.

STOLEN CHECKS CASHED

Borough Woman Charged. Robin Smith, 23, 29 Clay Street, was arrested Thursday on the corner of Witherspoon and Lytle Street by Det. Ronald Holiday who had a warrant charging her with possession of stolen property and obtaining money by false pretenses.

Miss Smith is alleged to have cashed two forged and stolen checks, both on the First National Bank of Princeton. One for $60 was stolen August 4 in West Windsor and cashed the same day at the First National Bank; the second for $65 was stolen August 9 in West Windsor and cashed the same day at the same bank.

She was later released pending her appearance in court on Wednesday.

It's Foliage Time

Here's October
Shining bright -
All its leaves
Aglow with Light

Here and there, as October reaches the horizon, hints of the glory to come may be seen in New Jersey, the annual treat can last almost a month, depending on the absence of strong winds and early frost.

Weatherwise, a gradually milder trend was scheduled to take effect as the week progressed Sunshine Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the Man reports, with clouds taking over for the weekend but--contrary to last Sunday--no rain currently forecast.

YOUTHS CHARGED

With Bike Larceny. Two Trenton juveniles, 16 and 14, were arrested last Wednesday afternoon on Stockton Street at Hibben and charged with larceny.

Both were riding 10-speed bicycles that police said had been stolen just prior to their apprehension from the Princeton University campus. They were turned over to the Borough juvenile officer for processing.

FIGHTERS ARRESTED

Outside Palmer Stadium. There was more action Saturday outside Palmer Stadium prior to the Princeton-Rutgers football game than there was inside.

Township police arrested Martin Harding, 20, a student at Lehigh University, and a Rutgers University student, William Farrell, 20, for fist-fighting near section 26 about an hour before game time. According to police, Farrell allegedly struck Harding with a bottle on his forehead, and a fight ensued.

Both were given emergency first aid in front of the stadium and then taken by Ptl. Robert Heacock to Princeton Medical Center for treatment. Harding was bleeding profusely and required 35 stitches to close the laceration of his forehead; Farrell sustained a severe laceration of his right hand.

Ptl. Peter J. Savalli charged each with fighting.

FIVE ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Five Princeton area residents were fined Monday by Judge Philip Carchman in Borough court.

Carlos Aramburu, 102½ Leigh Avenue, was fined $25 for following too closely and Panagioti Zoumas, 114 Northgate, Cranbury, paid $20 for having no insurance card in his possession.

Fined $15 each were Walter S. Clark, 152 Nassau Street, red light, and Ernest Burford, 102 Leigh Avenue, improper entering or leaving a highway. Jennifer Hillis, 3B Hibben Road, was fined a total of $65 for an unregistered car and using a motorcycle license plate instead of a regular plate on her car. Judge Carchman then suspended all fines but ordered her to pay $10 court costs.

MOPED, BIKES, CBs

All Are Stolen. Once again, the police blotter contained familiar entries last week: stolen bicycles, stolen citizen band radios and a weekly Moped theft.

The stolen Moped, valued at $503, had been parked on Spring Street early Saturday morning between 12:30 and 1:30. Its owner, a Skillman resident, flagged down Ptl. Robert Mucciarelli at 1:36 to report the theft. Police said its steering mechanism has been locked.

There were these CB thefts: a car owned by a Princeton Junction resident and parked in the lot behind the Engineering Quad was forced open to remove a unit valued at $125; a vent window was forced open to remove a $200 CB from a car parked on Witherspoon Street Friday evening, the victim a Skillman resident; and a Somerville driver reported the loss of a CB valued at $210 from his parked car Friday night behind Aljon's on Witherspoon Street.

In the Township, Joseph Sundra, 80 Alexander Road, an employee at Forrestal Labs, listed the theft of a two-meter band amateur radio valued at $200. It was taken he said, from beneath the dash of his car while it was parked in Lot 5 on the Princeton University campus. Police believe that a coat hanger or similar instrument was used to enter the car.

Borough Chief Michael Carnevale is hoping that police may have a lead to prevent future CB thefts.

He reported that an alert resident last week saw a man run from a Palmer Square lot towards Witherspoon Street and place two CB radios in the rear of a car. The car then sped away on Avalon Place, almost striking a pole.

The car's license registration was given to Princeton police and to other departments in the surrounding areas. So far, police have been unable to locate the suspect car but Chief Carnevale is optimistic that it may "lead to a solution to the many CB thefts we've had." Det. Ronald Holiday is continuing the investigation.

Bicycle Thefts. Among three bikes reported stolen was a woman's 3-speed black Sears model with a yellow baby carrier attached to the front. It was taken during the weekend from the rear of the victim's home on Prospect Avenue.

A University student reported on Monday the theft of his white, 10-speed Raleigh Grand Prix from a hallway of Lockhart Hall. It is valued at $100. Another Monday, call reported the theft of a boy's 24-inch yellow bike with a black banana seat and high handle bars from a Wiggins Street porch. Unlocked, it was taken during the night, police said.

A special meeting of Township Committee will be held this Thursday at 8 p.m. in the conference room of the recreation department in the Valley Road building, to discuss the surface-drainage ordinance. $300 WATCH STOLEN

By Apartment Thief. A Pulsar digital watch valued at $300, a $150 calculator and a flute were stolen last week by a thief from an apartment at 172 Nassau Street. Police said that entry was through the front door.

A pocketbook containing $110, credit cards and blank checks on the Princeton Bank and Trust was taken between 9 Thursday evening and midnight from a bedroom at the home of Erna B. Cromwell, 214 Linden Lane.

Police said that while the victim was entertaining friends, someone slit a bedroom screen and either entered the room or slid the pocketbook off the bed. Ptl. Robert Nielsen investigated.

"It was a typical kind of theft," commented Chief Michael Carnevale. "A secretary leaves her desk for a few minutes, places her purse under the desk and someone enters and steals it."

Such a "typical" theft occurred Monday afternoon in a Nassau Street office. The victim's missing handbag contained $40 and credit cards.

"GIVE ME YOUR MONEY"

Knife-Wielder Tells Student. An 18-year old Lawrenceville School student told Township police that he was robbed at knife-point Friday night when he went to get some money from his car parked in the Andy's Tavern lot on Alexander Street.

Edward Pritchard said that he was returning to the Tavern around 9:30 when a man came from behind his car, stuck a knife in his face and said, "Give me all your money!" Mr. Pritchard told police that after he handed over $5.13, the man ran north through the lot onto the railroad tracks. Police, called some 20 minutes after the incident, checked the area without success.

The suspect was described as 5-11 to 6-0, with long black wavy hair and a close-cut black beard. He was wearing a T-shirt, blue jeans and old shoes. Ptl. William Potts investigated.

SATURDAY IS "CANAL DAY": Every town from Trenton to New Brunswick (along the main canal) and Bulls Island to Stockton and Lambertville (on the feeder) will celebrate "Canal Day" (proclaimed so by the Governor) this Saturday--games, fairs, exhibits, music, canoe rides. The sponsor is the Delaware and Raritan Canal Coalition, and coalition members think it may be the world's longest party and will send information to the "Guiness Book of Records." In Princeton, there will be canoe rides from 10:30 to 4 at Princeton Basin, Alexander Street. If legalities can be straightened in time, the University may present to Princeton Township its four-acre gift of canal-side land. Want to know more? "Walk the towpath," advises Ronald Bond, president of the Coalition, "You'll find plenty going on."

COMMEMORATION SET

For Chilean Ambassador. A commemoration will be held in the Princeton University Chapel on Thursday, at 8 for Orlando Letelier, the former Chilean ambassador to the U.S. and a leader of the opposition to the current Chilean government. Mr. Letelier was killed, along with an American co-worker, when a bomb exploded in his car on September 21 in Washington.

Speakers at the commemoration will include Richard Falk, a member of the Princeton faculty and an expert on international law; Eqbal Ahmad, a personal friend of the slain Chilean and a former director of the Transnational Institute, a Washington research association; and Peter Winn, a historian who has written on recent events in Chile.

REGISTRATION UP

At Adult School. Princeton Adult School registration for the fall term, scheduled to open this week, is expected to exceed last year's figures, officials report.

Individuals may still register for classes during this week, the first in the ten-week session. Some classes are filled, but a few spaces remain in Creative Writing, Milton, Proust's Remembrance of Things Past, Quilting, bookbinding, Needlepoint II, House Remodeling, Sewing, First Aid, Understanding Self and Others, a Dance Medley, Tai Chi, Advanced Folk Guitar, Typing, some language courses, and Getting the Most From Your Travel Dollar.

A strong pre-registration was received for the new lecture series, The Many Faces of Art, which is available on an individual lecture or a series basis. Three new courses with a few places available are A Dance Sampler (including Middle-Eastern Dancing), Getting the Most From Your Travel Dollar, and House Remodeling. Classes meet on Tuesday and Thursday evenings, unless otherwise noted, at Princeton High School.

MANY CONTRIBUTE

To Hospital Rummage Sale. Thousands of items will be available at the Medical Center's Annual Rummage Sale Tuesday and Wednesday at the Italian-American Sportsmen's Club, 454 Terhune Road.

The co-chairmen, Sue Goebel and Barbara Johnson, indicate that the quantity of material contributed thus far has surpassed preceding years and that the response of people in the Jamesburg and Cranbury areas has been particularly gratifying. "Our storage areas are bursting at the seams, but we are still accepting any contributions individuals or stores want to make," Mrs. Johnson said.

Two sections of the sale, furniture and small appliances will be open one half hour earlier this year to give buyers the opportunity to purchase these items before all the other departments open at 9:30. The sale will continue on both days until 5.

Arrangements for pick-up may be made by calling Mrs. Johnson, 924-2598, or Mrs. Goebel, 924-7627. The garage at the Stanworth apartments 27 and 29 off Bayard Lane will be open for receiving Saturday morning from 10 to 11.

MINERAL SHOW SET

At Princeton Shopping Center. The Down-to-Earth Lapidary and Mineral Club will be at the Princeton Shopping Center Saturday from 10 to 5 with a gem and mineral show in the shopping center mall. The Princeton Barbershop Singers, also known as the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, will perform between 1:30 and 4.

There will be over 20 dealers tables selling jewelry, jewelry supplies, silver craft, mineral specimens and rough stones. Other tables will include a gold mine for young children, a swap table for exchanging mineral specimens and section for lapidary demonstrations on how to cut and form semi-precious stones.

The Down-to-Earth Club is the only organization of its kind in this area. The group takes field trips, collects fossils and does work in geological sciences. Profits from dealer table rentals are used for the purchase of specimens and lapidary equipment used as science teaching aids in the public schools.

MAGAZINE DRIVE SET

To Aid PHS Scholarships. Princeton High School students will conduct a community-wide magazine subscription drive Friday through October 18 for the benefit of the Princeton Regional Scholarship Foundation. The drive is co-sponsored by the PHS Student Council and the high school PTO under the chairmanship of Mrs. Charles Stenard.

New and renewal subscriptions will be solicited by student salesmen. This year Princeton Bank and Trust Co. has underwritten a grant to provide prizes for those who sell the most subscriptions. Those who are not contacted by a student and wish to place or renew a subscription may call Mrs. Stenard at 921-1525.

The Regional Scholarship Foundation provides grants to members of the senior class who will require financial assistance to continue their education or training.

WHIG HALL TO BE SITE

Of Fenwick-Nero Debate. Princeton University's Whig Hall will be the setting for the first campaign confrontation between the Fifth District Congressional candidates, Democrat Frank Nero and Republican Millicent Fenwick.

The two Congressional opponents will discuss domestic and foreign issues in a debate Wednesday, Oct. 6 at 7:30 p.m.

Sponsored by the American Whig-Cliosophic Society, the encounter will begin with a 10-minute statement on domestic issues from each candidate, followed by 10 minutes of cross examination and a seven-minute rebuttal statement from each. The same format will be repeated as Nero and Fenwick debate their positions on foreign policy.

The audience will then have an opportunity to question the

However, the Commission advised that the opening date could be postponed if the weather is too warm and prevents the freezing of the covered rink.

The fees for a two-hour public session are 75 cents for children and $1.50 for adults 18 and over. There is a $50 per hour fee for a group rental, with a two-hour limit.

This will be the second year of operation for the center. Approximately 58,000 persons put the facility to good use last year.

SEMINAR IS PLANNED

On Responsibtlity of Bustness. A seminar on "The Social Responsibility of Business" will be hetd Tuesday, Oct. 5 under the auspices of Princeton University's Center for New Jersey Affairs.

Panelists for the seminar will be David J. Bardin, New Jersey commissioner of environmental protection, and Thomas Allsopp, recently retired senior vice president for public affairs of the Prudential Insurance Company of America. The moderator will be former Gov. William T. Cahill, currently a senior fellow in the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

The seminar is open to the public and will take place at 7:30 p.m. in Room 3 of the Woodrow Wilson School.

Mr. Allsopp will discuss the social responsibility of business, including meeting environmental regulations, equal opportunity goals, and other problems in the relationship between public and private sectors -- tensions felt most strongly in New Jersey and other older, urban industrial states where it is often claimed that investment is being discouraged by government demands.

Mr. Bardin will pick up on these themes with specific reference to the controversy surrounding the impacts of environmental regulations on business in New Jersey.

MUSEUM TO OPEN

On D. & R. Canal. A new museum– perhaps Franklin Township's first– will open Saturday, October 2, at Canal House, the old bridgetender's home on Blackwetls Mills Road at the Canal.

The museum will feature exhibits related to the Delaware and Raritan Canal, as well as the history of Franklin Township and the Millstone Valley, and will be operated by the Blackwells Mills Canat House Association. In recent years this group has been restoring the building and plans to operate it as a community historic and environmental center.

The museum opening wilt be the highlight of an open house from 1 to 5. Other features will include guided tours, a reunion of old-time canal workers, a demonstration of baking in the old wood-burning kitchen range, and souvenir and refreshment tables. Township and state officials wilt take part in an official opening ceremony at 3. All events are open to the public.

Anyone who has items of canat-related interest is invited to consider donating or loaning them to the new museum. Such items would include old tools, documents, boat hardware, posters, books, photographs, models, letters, journals, ads, paintings and drawings. Similar items related to Franklin Township and Millstone Valley history will also be welcome. Call Robert Grumet, the museum curator, at (201) 873-3820.

They will go to the Dutch Neck School to present a play and give demonstrations on fire safety and prevention in the home. Even toddlers will be alerted of Fire Prevention Week as the two groups will host a tour of the fire company for the Presbyterian Coop Nursery School.

Hot Line Seeking Volunteers--Training Session This Weekend

Listening.....most people don't know how.

The Hot Line will run a marathon 20-hour training session this Friday evening and all day and evening Saturday for volunteers interested in answering Hot Line's telephones.

Want to sign up? You can be any age, either sex, any or no experience. Call 924-1144 or 448-1144 and volunteer. After the training session, Hot Line will ask you to serve nine hours a month -- three evenings, plus one staff meeting each month to talk it all over.

What kinds of calls come over the Hot Line?

Chiefly, calls from people who are depressed. Usually, they can cope but all of a sudden, they just can't, so they call.

A girl who wants a "morning after" pill, perhaps a caller who is on the verge of suicide, even a woman who needed a ride to the airport, kids running away, kids thinking of going back. The age range is teens through 50. Not many elderly, although they are welcome.

Trained to Listen. "Most people don't know how to listen and we have to reverse that normal, human reaction," says the Rev. William Kirby, Princeton University's Methodist-Presbyterian chaplain and the trainer of Hot Line volunteers.

Training is done, he explains, by role--playing in "triads:" one acts the part of the caller, another the listener, the third the observer or teacher.

"People encode what they're saying, and we teach the listener to decode," Mr. Kirby explains. "The caller says, 'I'm just calling because I want to talk', encoding 'I'm lonely.' We teach the listener to ask 'what' and 'how' questions -- not 'why' questions."

"'What are you feeling tonight?' the listener will ask. This is an open-ended question, gives the talker a chance to talk, and that is the goal of Hot Line: to help the talker talk."

"It's not the listener's job to interpret. We're not teaching people to be little Freuds."

Do It Yourself. Crisis-counselling is part of the training. A caller wants to know "What should I do!" Listeners are trained NOT to give advice, but to equip the caller to get through that crisis -- and others. The listener might say, "Well, it looks to me as though there are five things you could do....."

"This is better than advice," Mr. Kirby believes, "it helps the caller to make a decision, to be independent. And the listener provides the caller with a calm, quiet period in which to think of ways to dig out. No chance for this in the family, or when friends are saying 'You can't get a divorce, you've got three kids', and so on."

Most Hot Line calls are just talking it out, but occasionally referrals are made, and Mr. Kirby says referral itself is a skill. Maybe the caller is obviously in need of help, but won't admit it.

"'I don't want to go to a shrink – I'm not crazy!' the caller will say, and the listener might answer, 'I'm just saying you need a little help'."

Suicide calls do come in: "I'm sitting here with a razor in my hand....."

Repeated Practice. In training lectures, Mr. Kirby presents a skit on how be would handle a suicide, then there is role-playing. Listeners practice what to say over and over and over, repeating until the anxiety they might feel when confronted with a suicide is reduced.

Training also helps the listeners to deal with certain areas in their own lives. If a caller says "I have a sexual problem," the listener may become up-tight, and this produces what Mr. Kirby calls "static," which affects what the listener is actually hearing.

Some people may call two or three times a night. A call may last two or three hours.

"A lot of people get in trouble after midnight, but not many therapists operate after 5 o-clock," Mr. Kirby says ruefully. "The Hot Line is THERE, it's available. Availability – it's a form of caring."

BID 'N' BUY SAT.

In Rocky Hill. Rocky Hill's 11th annual Bid 'n' Buy will be held Saturday from 10 to 5 on Washington Street. Proceeds benefit the Rocky Hill Community Group which restored and maintains a pre-Revolutionary House where a program of historical, educational and recreational projects is carried on each year.

General co-chairmen Ann Faranetta and Pam Riley have added professional entertainment to this year's Bid 'n' Buy. The Footnotes, a Princeton a cappella male singing group will perform at 11; Michael Moschen, an accomplished juggler will perform at 12:30 and 3:30 and instruct aspiring jugglers afterward; and the Blawenburg Band, reportedly the oldest in New Jersey, will play from noon to 4.

Under the big tent will be the Auction with auctioneers Vic Washkevich and Bill Higgins as well as the Silent Auction which pools talent, time, services and equipment and offers it to the highest bidder. There is also a three-item raffle with chances for a red oak tree, a silk flower centerpiece and a terrarium.

Other favorite booths are the Rocky Hill Aprons, the Green Thumb, Book Booth, the Knitting Booth and the Handicraft Booth. For children with a $1 or less there are games, contests, pony rides and joyous junk at the White Elephant Booth. The Produce Contest, will award prizes for the biggest home grown pumpkin, zucchini, sunflower, watermelon, tomato, cucumber, pole bean carrot, cabbage or ear of corn.

BACK TO SCHOOL

For Littlebrook Parents. It will be Back-to-School Night at Littlebrook School. On Thursday parents will visit their children's classrooms and meet their teachers.

The evening will begin with a meeting of the Littlebrook Parent-Teacher Organization, followed by visits to the classrooms. Teachers will talk about their hopes for the year and parents will have the opportunity to ask questions related to the curriculum.

The evening will close with a reception and refreshments in the school library. Teacher conferences about their individual children will be held at another time.

Carter's Lead in State over Ford 42% to 36%; Most Voters Pick Democrat as Eventual Winner

Jimmy Carter narrowly leads Gerald Ford in the Presidential race in New Jersey by a margin of 42 percent to 36 percent, according to the latest Eagleton Poll.

This statewide survey, conducted between September 13 and 19, also finds 21 percent were still undecided on the eve of the first of the Presidential debates. Even among those stating a definite preference, one in four of each candidate's supporters say they might change their mind before the election.

The Presidential election has the attention of nearly all New Jerseyans, with 63 percent of those surveyed saying they are "very interested" in the election and an additional 32 percent saying they are "somewhat interested." Almost half -- 43 percent -- feel that the election will be very close, with 37 percent predicting it will be "somewhat close." Carter is seen as the eventual winner by 45 percent and Ford by 34 percent.

While current attention to the election is running at a high level, Poll Director Stephen A. Salmore pointed out, Election Day turnout is likely to be substantially lower. He continued, "Lower turnout would definitely favor President Ford." He estimated that among those respondents judged as most likely to vote the President and Carter are running just about even.

Party Lines Followed. The Presidential race in New Jersey is dividing the electorate along clearly partisan lines. Democrats favor Carter by the wide margin of 74 percent to 9 percent, while Republicans line up behind Ford by an even wider margin of 82 percent to 6 percent. Even among Democrats who said they voted for Nixon in 1972, Carter is comfortably ahead by about three to one.

Independent voters, who constitute about half of the electorate in New Jersey, divide almost evenly, with Ford narrowly ahead of Carter by 37 percent to 34 percent. Salmore noted that since Democrats outnumber Republicans by almost two to one, the net result is a slim Carter lead.

Carter support is drawn primarily from groups which have traditionally favored Democratic candidates -- union members, blue collar workers, lower income persons, the less well educated, liberals, and blacks. In fact, Carter's narrow margin can be attributed to his overwhelming lead of 72 percent to 9 percent among non-whites. Among whites, he trails Ford slightly 40 percent to 37 percent. The major exception to this pattern of traditional democratic support is Catholics, who divide almost evenly between the two candidates.

Ford's strength is greatest among conservatives, white collar workers, upper income and better educated New Jerseyans. Only among older respondents who usually support Republican candidates does Ford do less well than expected. Those over 50 split evenly between Ford and Carter with 40 percent favoring each. Among those under 30 Carter holds a comfortable lead of 50 percent to 30 percent.

PRINCETON BOROUGH RESIDENTS APPLAUD DEMOCRATS' ACCOMPLISHMENTS

☒ A LID ON TAXES

Princeton Borough Democrats are tight with taxes. In Four years we have held the increase in taxes to 1% per year - and we did it at a time when inflation was increasing prices at more than 10% per year. No gimmicks, just good budgeting. Municipal taxes were kept low - but important services for Borough citizens was improved.

☒ RESPONSIVE GOVERNMENT

Democrats have been successful in involving great numbers of citizens in helping to give direction to the Borough through public hearings on budget topics and hearings on recreation needs in the playgrounds. Borough Democrats were responsible for having all vacancies on Borough boards committee and commissions publicized to give all residents an equal opportunity for public services.

☒ A STRICT MANDATE FOR HOUSING

Over the past four years the Borough Council has pursued various initiatives to expand the Borough's housing opportunities. After careful study, and over the objections of the Republicans then on council, the Borough Democrats enacted a rent levelling ordinance to put a stop to exorbitant and unjustified rent increases. At the same time our efforts have preserved the housing stock and the economic and ethnic diversity of our community.

☒ A BALANCED LOCAL TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM

A lot of people talk about the need for public transportation. Princeton Democrats did something about it: by establishing a Joint Transportation Commission, local bus service and reviving "Crosstown 62". By constructing bicycle paths and by encouraging the use of alternate transportation systems.

☒ A SENSITIVITY TO NEIGHBORHOOOD RECREATIONAL NEEDS

Borough Democrats revitalized two neighborhood parks - a demonstration that imagination and creativity could succeed, at modest cost, to provide for the recreation needs of the community. Democrats expanded the hours of the neighborhood wading pools and have protected our remaining open spaces by applying for Green Acres funds to convert the Quarry site into a park.

☒ A PROFESSIONAL POLICE DEPARTMENT, SECOND TO NONE

A new Democratic Police Commissioner has worked with police leadership to assure a sensitivity to community relations. Expanded patrols and up to date police equipment are the evidence of Democrats' concern for community safety.

☒ SENIOR CITIZENS

Democrats were responsible for creating the Princeton Joint Commission on Aging which unveiled a low cost senior citizen transportation. They were also responsible for initiating the new snow removal program for seniors.

☒ A CONCERN FOR BETTER HEALTH CONDITIONS

The Democrats have given new life to the Borough Health efforts by demanding tough inspections of Princeton food establishments and rental housing. By insisting upon strict enforcement of the laws, Democrats have assured cleaner restaurants and safer housing.

CLASSICS, CONTINUITY

At Reynolds Shop. During its 30 or more years of existence, The Reynolds Shop in Pennington has known several owners. Yet, despite these changes, there has always been a continuity in the carefully selected classic clothing and personalized service found here.

This week the newest owner, Dosky French, is celebrating her first anniversary, but to the regular customers everything continues to look very much the same. For instance, all the salespeople have remained, and Mrs. French is quick to say that they have been "not just a big help, but vital. They know our customers and the customers know them."

This is a store where you'll find lots of smiles, hot coffee and helpful suggestions – all offered without any pressure to buy. They realize that many people feel they must purchase something when they go to a store for the first time, but the Reynolds Shop doesn't agree.

While this friendliness is certainly refreshingly old-fashioned, the clothing is decidedly not. Drawing from the resources of several companies, Mrs. French has chosen a collection of 1976 classics.

From Jones New York there is a handsome rust small houndstooth plaid that is available in a velvet-collared blazer, a skirt with a front kick pleat or slacks, $40 to $80. Then for more casual moments Jones also makes a deep navy pea jacket, $80.

Particularly lovely is Gordon's wool and mohair camel blazer. It has interesting double topstitching detail and can be teamed with either a matching flared skirt or plaid slacks of camel, off-white and blue, $50 to $86. For less money, but still a total look, there is a brick colored corduroy pantsuit, also by Gordon, $88.

Bleyle Separates Back. Here once again for several years of absence are the Bleyle separates which have well earned their popularity. Made in West Germany, this clothing always looks right and lasts for years. This season the Reynolds Shop has chosen blazers in a soft grey, mint green or pale blue which can be worn with matching slacks or plaid ones in green and blue or pink and grey, $62 to $124.

There are more casual separates too, such as corduroy slacks in a range of colors and shetland tweed wool ones by Deans. The latter come in a bright green or a navy and green plaid which perfectly match this company's gorgeous sweaters.

There must not be a color available that Deans has not covered with its turtlenecks, crewnecks and Fair Isle sweaters. Particularly interesting this year is a soft cantaloupe Fair Isle with its multi-colored yoke, colorful striped and patchwork sweaters and a soft natural colored cowl-necked one, $20 to $34.

The sweaters of course also look great with skirts and Deans has some to match here too. Skirts are once again most fashionable, and we were particularly impressed with the Reynolds Shop's selection which features lots of detail. For instance, a sea green wool from Cottage Tailors has top-stitched welts down the front which interestingly make a jog in the center before continuing to the hemline, $42.

Up To You. Evening clothes here range from long skirts that can be teamed with Kirkland Hall's velveteen blazer in black, brown, dark green or burgundy to an oxford grey tailored jumpsuit by Schrader to a long nyesta nylon dress by Keram in black with a white floral print, $50 to $90.

The Reynolds Shop is actually two shops in one. The back room is called Up To You and carries more contemporary lines in junior sizes that while they may fit teenagers are also perfect for many smaller women.

What impressed us most here was the Peerless group of coordinates. All the pieces work together, something that is often hard to find among junior lines. There are blazers in camel, dark brown and blue, which can be worn with matching skirts or camel slacks with a brown, green and blue overplaid. Or, for a very current look you might also add the camel culottes, $22 to $42.

Another important look this year are sweater vests which Up To You has in solids that tie at the sides or in lots of stripes. One in a blue, brick and white stripe with a patterned border around the neck looked great over a blue turtleneck and a brick colored corduroy culotte, $20 for the vest and $19 for the culotte.

Evening looks at Up To You too. In fact, we felt one of the handsomest dresses in the store was back here. This is a heavy nylon long-sleeved long dress with a deep cowl neckline and a definite waistline in a shimmering blue, $46 by Act I.

Throughout both areas there are lots of extras such as jewelry; wild knee socks including an off-white Irish knit pair; scarves in Scottish tartans, silk paisleys or Indian cottons; purses; and even gloves.

Research May Be Hazardous, To The Editor of Town Topics:

According to an article in a recent issue of the Weekly Bulletin of Princeton University, the University is currently developing "policies for experimentation in genetic recombination." Despite the University's assurance that any such policies will be in "accordance with recently issued guidelines of the National Institutes of Health" and despite the distinguished reputation of the faculty comprising the subcommittee that will make recommendations to President Bowen, it seems highly inappropriate for the University to be making such decisions without giving the people of this community an equal opportunity to become acquainted with the issues involved.

What is really the function of the assigned subcommittee? Is it indeed responsible for investigating the scientific advantages and disadvantages of the proposed research or is it intended merely to lend support or add face validity to a predetermined decision to go ahead with the construction of such a laboratory? Since any such research will involve "potential biohazardous material," it is the right of every responsible citizen to know just what the implications are for the future of our lives and those in neighboring communities.

Ordinary DNA is a large molecule, shaped like a double helix. For any cell, the particular arrangement of atoms in recurring units determines the genetic characteristics of the cell. Recombinant DNA is obtained when a fragment of DNA from one living cell (viral DNA) becomes incorporated into the DNA of another (bacterium). The new recombined molecule is active and forms the new basis for the genetic make-up of the bacterium, able to multiply ad infinitum.

The experimental technique involved in this process is apparently amazingly simple. The implications arising from the creation of new life forms and the effects on the natural process of evolution are far-reaching. But it is not the purpose of this letter to discuss the pros and cons of new scientific research; rather, I would like to urge prudence vis a vis the particular experiments currently being considered by Princeton University.

So far, experiments on recombinant DNA have generally involved work with the bacterium E. coli because its genetic characteristics and behavior are well understood. However, E. coli is a normal inhabitant of the human digestive tract that can readily enter the body through the mouth and nose. The staff in any laboratory working with E. coli constitute potential carriers who could spread possibly dangerous recombinants (one example might be the introduction of genes from cancer viruses into E. coli).

Exactly what constitutes safe standards? The proponents for the research indicate that they will work with weakened bacteria that would be unable to survive in conditions outside of the labortory. How can every possible condition for life be simulated in the laboratory and tested so that not a single bacterium could survive outside it? Even a weakened bacterium that survives is able to transmit its genetic materials to the next generation (a primary objective of the experiments).

laboratory for about 10 years, I am well aware that human error or mechanical breakdown of equipment is not impossible. This becomes increasingly true when scientists are eager to push for quick results.

It seems quite reasonable to me that a temporary moratorium on the proposed research be established until such time as scientists have learned more about the genetic characteristics of bacterium less compatible with mammaliam physiology than E. coli. The immediate dangers could thereby be reduced by several orders of magnitude.

In July 1976, the City Council of Cambridge, Mass. voted to halt the construction of such a specialized genetics laboratory at Harvard University. The people of Princeton should be given a similar opportunity to consider all the issues involved before the University proceeds with any proposed plan.

An Award to Be Shared.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I was deeply honored by the Soroptimist International of Princeton's award for Woman of the Year. The award must be shared with the community. My function has been largely that of a coordinator, and a coordinator must have the talents of people to coordinate, the financial support with which to coordinate those talents and the encouragement and acceptance of the programs by the community.

Please share the honor with me.

Deer Crossing--Drive Slowly!

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The annual contest between the Cars and the Deer on Rosedale Road is off to a vigorous start. Score so far: Deer-0, Cars-4. Three actually, if you don't count the small deer that suffered a broken foreleg and managed to drag itself away before the police could arrive to put it out of its misery.

1976 will be no better or worse than years past – or to come – although it would be hard to exceed the sheer slaughter last year of four deer by one Ford Maverick. 1976 will be no better or worse than other years until the tragedy hits the cars and their occupants as hard as it hits the deer.

The deer don't understand why it's dangerous to go back and forth over the same paths they have always used. The understanding -- and the careful driving – is up to us.

If you drive on Rosedale Road, you may have noticed the small "Deer Crossing" signs by the stretch between Province Line and Carter roads along E.T.S.'s property. Don't wait for the signs! The road is straight and almost level. At dusk and at night you cannot stop in time to avoid a deer even at the 45 mph speed limit.

Slow Down. You'll get where you're going just as fast. Better yet, you'll get where you're going – not where a lot of deer have gone.

Correction Offered.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In an article on the Princeton Regional Schools and their staffing problems (August 26), it was stated that one did not need certification in order to work as a supplemental instructor. This statement is not correct.

Certification by the State Dept. of Education is a requirement, whether the teacher is a classroom instructor, a supplemental instructor or a home instructor.

(Editor's note) Mrs. Cohen is correct. Classroom aides, however, do not need formal certification.)

EARNINGS, NET RISE

At Mathematica. Mathematica, Inc. has reported record sales and earnings for its fiscal year ended June 30, Dr. Tibor Fabian, president of Mathematica, Inc. has announced.

Revenues increased 27 percent to $18,870,000 from last year's $14,839,000. Net income rose to $670,000, or $.96 per share, up 23 percent from $543,000, or $.78 per share, before an extraordinary loss of $.07 per share, reported in fiscal 1975.

Dr. Fabian stated that the excellent revenue growth could be attributed to essentially all of the company's activities -- the traditional consulting and research business as well as the sale of systems, services and products which developed as spin-offs of the traditional work.

Growth of net income was principally attributable to the increased volume of business with the federal and state governments, increased software and related business and the substantial reduction of the losses of the company's Educational Coordinates subsidiary. These factors were partially offset by project overruns on certain commercial contracts and increased development expenses on computer software which is expected to be marketed in fiscal 1977.

Mathematica's financial position at year end was strong. Stockholder's equity was $4,326,000 equal to $6.20 per share compared with $3,795,000, or $5.44 per share, at 1975's year end. Mathematica maintained its debt-free position.

"We entered fiscal 1977 with a backlog of $15,500,000, which compares very well with $11,100,000 a year ago," commented Dr. Fabian. "Although earnings for the first quarter of the current fiscal year may be flat or somewhat below those of the comparable fiscal 1976 period because of a recent change in the period of bidding for Federal contracts and other factors, we believe that fiscal 1977 will be another excellent year for Mathematica."

Mathematica is a technical consulting and research firm working in the areas of national policy studies, operations research, system analysis, economic analysis, opinion research, computer software systems and survey development. Its services are utilized by federal, state and local government agencies, as well as by private industry, trade associations and educational and non-profit organizations.

MENU, NAME CHANGED

At Aljon's. Aljon's Sub Shop at 157 Witherspoon Street still makes subs–some claim the best in town--and is still located on Witherspoon Street between Nassau and the Princeton Medical Center across from the Forer Pharmacy. But it has become more than a sub shop.

It's new name, "Aljon's Pizza and Sub Shop" reflects one change. Not only has the menu been enlarged to include pizza, burgers and steaks but the hours have been expanded, too.

Previously closed on Sunday, Aljon's is now open seven days a week: Sunday through Thursday from 10 to 10; Friday from 10 'til midnight and Saturday from 10 to 11 p.m. It also has a new telephone number--924-6266--for those who want to call ahead for orders.

Inside, two very fast stainless steel ovens that can cook a pizza in ten minutes have been installed plus a new stainless steel grill. "The best money can buy," says Joe Pawlak proudly.

PIZZA POLICY: At Aljon's Pizza and Sub Shop, pizza is a new addition and it can be obtained any hour the store is open. Here, Lou Dallenbach prepares to cut an 18-inch pie which sells for 50¢ a slice.

Business in Princeton

Mr. Pawlak was associated with an Aljon's on Broad Street in Trenton for about a year before coming to Princeton in June to become a partner with Lou Dallenbach. He has been in the food service business for 15 years; Mr. Dallenbach has been with Aljon's since it began eight years ago with its first store in Hightstown. There are now nine Aljon's scattered among Trenton, Hightstown, Princeton, Allentown, Jamesburg, Hamilton Square and Burlington.

Aljon's serves pizza "from the time we open until the time we close," commented Mr. Pawlak. He thinks it is the best around. He backs up his claim by pointing to a framed article on the wall, the results of a newspaper contest in which the Hightstown store was selected as serving the best pizza in Mercer County. Pizza was judged on crust, sauce, excellence.

"We serve the same pizza here," Mr. Pawlak said. "It's all fresh, nothing is frozen. We make our own dough and our own sauce."

Pizza by the slice (50 cents) is cut from an 18-inch pie. Said Pawlak, "We have the largest sliced pizza in the area. It's nice looking as well as nice tasting."

Small pizzas (14 inches) range from $2.75 for plain to $6.05 with all six extras; large (16 inches) from $3.25 to $7.50 with all the extras. The six extras are sausage, mushrooms, pepperoni, peppers and onions, anchovies and extra cheese.

For subs, or hoagies, as some prefer to call them, Aljon's offers ten selections. Eight include different combinations of provolone, ham capicola, prosciuttino, bologna and salami. There is also a turkey sub, and a tuna sub--prices range from $1.45 to $2.25--and party subs measuring three feet and six feet.

"We have the biggest sub for the money in the area. No question about that," said Mr. Pawlak. "We pride ourselves on our quality and freshness. Nothing is cut ahead of time. Our place is open for inspection any time; we feel we have one of the cleanest stores in Princeton."

Burgers include hamburgers and cheeseburgers (you can order a double of either) while steaks on the grill are plain or cheese steak. There is also a Big Al (three steaks) and a Big Al cheese.

NAMED TO STAFF

RESEARCH IS BEGUN

On Bedsores by Foundation Here. The Bedsore Research Foundation was founded recently to sponsor medical and product research on prevention of bedsores, to disseminate the information obtained, and to encourage its use.

Bedsores, or decubitus ulcers, are caused by the patients' weight on the bed cutting off the supply of blood to the tissue over bony prominences. If the patient does not move every few hours, circulation is not restored, the tissue dies and sloughs off, leaving an ulcer which may eventually reach to the bone. Institutions are facing an increased incidence of bedsores due to the advances in acute medical care, resulting in an increased number of survivors with residual disability. The problem of this kind of patient, with his demand for more continuous nursing care, is exacerbated by cost-saving personnel decreases.

Prevention of bedsores has long been considered a nursing function. For example, a spinal injury patient in the hospital for 3 months, must be turned about 1000 times and the responsibility for this care is in the hands of, perhaps, a dozen people. If any turn is missed, bedsores can result. It is obvious that the need exceeds human capability, since humans do few things 1,000 times without fail.

Although it costs between $6,000 and $15,000 to cure a bedsore, and only between $200 and $800 to buy appliances to prevent it, preventive equipment is rarely used. The reason is that Medicare, Medicaid, and private insurance carriers are generally not permitted to pay for preventive appliances, but can pay for treatment only after the condition has occurred. This discourages hospitals and nursing homes from using preventive equipment, since they have no way of being reimbursed for the purchase.

In spite of the problems, there are about 40 companies selling 140 products designed to prevent or aid in the care of bedsores. However, there has never been a comprehensive study to determine the efficacy of the various products or to define the type of patient suitable for each one. The Foundation is now initiating such a study. A conference is planned this winter to disseminate and exchange information among physicians, nurses, rehabilitation specialists, and lawyers interested in the health field.

Initial funding was obtained from manufacturers and suppliers of health care products. Grants are now being solicited from foundations interested in health care, insurance companies, and interested individuals.

For further information, contact the bedsore Research Foundation, Attention: Dr. E.A. Blair, 28 Murray Place, Princeton, N.J., 08540, or (609)921-6657.

about four weeks old, I appealed to Mrs. Graves, who rose to the occasion heroically, placing all the puppies in good homes in the immediate vicinity of Princeton, with people who really wanted them and were very happy to have them.

Without Mrs. Graves, I would probably have had to "put them to sleep" and those people who obviously wanted them so much would have had to pay exorbitant prices elsewhere for dogs that were possibly less healthy and happy than our lovingly-reared home-bred puppies.

S.A.V.E. is one organization that really deserves our support and Mrs. Graves should be deeply appreciated for the very good job she is doing.

News Of The CHURCHES

CHURCH IS RENAMED

Has New Minister. The Christian Center of Princeton is the new name of the former Assembly of God on North Harrison Street, which also has a new pastor. The Rev. Jesse Owens, a native of North Carolina, has been the pastor since July and was formally installed on September 12.

The church will air half-hour radio broadcasts on station WHWH beginning Sunday at 8:30. The theme of the broadcasts will be Renewal and will feature live music and interviews, with people telling how they came to Christ.

A service of Christian Worship and Teaching will be held Sundays at 10:30 with Mr. Owens speaking and Westminster Choir College students providing the music.

On Sunday evenings at 6:30 there will be a Charismatic Healing Service. Dave Boudwin of Beverly will share his testimony of how he was changed from a hopeless drug addict and pusher to a "servant of Christ, leading a happy and fulfilled life in Jesus Christ." A ten week intensive Bible study course on the Book of Romans will be led by Dr. Hobart Grazier of Northeast Bible College, beginning October 7.

Pastor Owens says that in the three-weeks since his installation there has been an "incredible" response to the new ministry, with many new people coming in each Sunday. "The Lord is at work, and it is God's hour," he says appreciatively.

CONGREGATION FORMS

Calls Minister. Windsor Chapel, a non-denominational Christian Church, will begin holding worship services at Maurice Hawk School, Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction, on Sunday, October 3, at 9:30. The congregation has called the Rev. David Morgan of Scotia, N.Y., to be its pastor.

The Rev. Mr. Morgan has been serving as the assistant pastor at the East Glenville Community Church near Schenectady since 1973. He and his wife Ruth, graduated from Taylor University. He completed his post graduate studies at Gordon Conwell Seminary and held the position of youth director at Park Street Church in Boston prior to his position at East Glenville Community Church.

Mr. Morgan is the son of the Rev. Edward H. Morgan, who for the past twenty years has been the pastor of Westerly Road Church in Princeton. The younger Morgans will live at 151 Penn Lyle Road, Princeton Junction.

In addition to Sunday morning services, the Windsor Chapel congregation plans to meet in small family groups in the homes of members on Wednesday evenings for Bible study and prayer. Plans are being developed for a Sunday evening program as well. For additional information those interested may call members of the congregation at the following numbers: 799-3612, 448-7397, 799-2793 or 799-0703.

Eight Candidates in Complex Borough Council Race Express Their Opinions on Issues Which Will Determine Its Outcome

The Borough's election this year is complicated by the fact that candidates are running for one-year, two-year and three-year terms on Council, instead of only the standard three-year term.

This situation came about because Barbara Sigmund resigned from Council after she was re-elected last year, in order to become a Mercer County Freeholder. There are two years remaining in her term. There is one year remaining in the term of the late Murray Medvin, who died this June.

Priscilla Waring Pols and Richard Woodbridge
Republicans

THREE-YEAR TERM

Martin P. Lombardo, (D), 16 Bank Street, a graduate of Princeton High (1961) and Rider College (business administration) directs youth activities for the National Multiple Sclerosis Foundation. He is seeking his third term on Council.

David Male, (D), 76 Cedar Lane, Princeton High, class of 1974, has his own car-wash business. He is the son of former Borough Mayor Raymond F. Male and former Borough Council member Alice Male.

Priscilla Waring Pols, (R), 145 Ewing, a graduate of St. Paul's and Villa Victoria, has a degree in international affairs from Georgetown University. She is vice-president of Princeton National Surveys, Inc., a subsidiary of Gallup & Robinson, Inc.

Richard Woodbridge, (R), 56 William, was graduated from Lawrenceville, holds an engineering degree from Princeton and a law degree from George Washington University. He is a partner in Behr and Woodbridge, 221 Nassau Street, patent attorneys.

TWO-YEAR TERM

William Selden, (R), 58 Westcott, is a Princeton graduate. He was chairman of the citizens long-range planning committee for the Princeton schools and serves as consultant for various state governments and the Federal government in the health-services field.

Irv Urken, (D), 416 Nassau, is a graduate of the Hun School (1968). He has a degree in political science from Middlebury College and was a summer interne ('71) in the Washington office of Congressman Frank Thompson. He is manager of the Urken Supply Company on Witherspoon, founded by his parents.

ONE-YEAR TERM

Leona Medvin, (I), 27 Leavitt Lane, was graduated from Hunter College (1940) with a degree in education. A teacher in the third grade at Littlebrook School, she was Littlebrook's representative to the Princeton Regional Education Association's executive board, and has been on the religious and school committees of the Jewish Center.

Marvin Trotman, (D), 181 Witherspoon, is a 1956 Princeton High graduate, holds a degree in elementary education from Elizabeth City State University and is a doctoral candidate in education at Rutgers. He is a guidance counsellor at Princeton High and has been varsity basketball coach at PHS for the past four years.

men and women and the all-Democratic Borough Council, gave the appointment to Mr. Trotman, on condition that he run this fall for the full remaining year.

Mrs. Medvin decided to run as an independent. Previously, Republicans had told the Democrats they wouldn't field a candidate against her if Democrats chose Mrs. Medvin. When she decided to run as an independent, Republicans announced they would back her candidacy.

"You must have people on Council receptive to more than one point of view," Mrs. Medvin believes, "and I am disturbed by what I've seen of divisiveness, Council members pitting sections of the community against one another."

"We have a diverse community, but somebody's economic level has never had a bearing on how you feel about that person. People I've talked to tell me they are very disturbed -- and they are Democrats, Republicans, independents -- and that they feel more divisiveness than in the past. To me, this is the most important issue in this

Keenest interest focuses on the contest between Mr. Trotman and Mrs. Medvin for the one-year seat. Mr. Medvin died four days before the June primary. After Mr. Trotman lost the primary contest for the three-year seat to Mr. Male, Democrats proposed him for the appointment to Mr. Medvin's vacant seat.

Members of the Princeton Community Democratic association voted for Mrs. Medvin for that appointment, but Democratic committee

CASTING CHANGED

For "Streetcar." Kenneth Welsh has been chosen to play the role of Stanley Kowalski in "A Streetcar Named Desire," replacing Frank Converse, who was originally announced for the part. According to McCarter, Mr. Converse and director Michael Kahn parted company by mutual agreement.

A Canadian, Mr. Welsh has performed extensively at Stratford, Ontario, appearing as Hamlet, as Edgar in "King Lear," Benedick in "Much Ado About Nothing" and D'Artagnan in "The Three Musketeers."

Most recently, he appeared under Mr. Kahn's direction in the Stratford, Connecticut American Shakespeare Theatre production of "As You Like It," in the part of Orlando.

"Streetcar" will open McCarter's season next Thursday, October 7, at 7:30 p.m., playing through Sunday, October 24. It will then move to Philadelphia for two weeks at the Annenberg Theatre center.

PINTER.....

Intime's Opener. "Old Times," Harold Pinter's drama of three people remembering a long-buried past, will open Theatre Intime's '76-'77 season Thursday, October 14. As always, plays will be given on the stage of Murray Theatre, on the Princeton University campus near the chapel.

Eric Zwemer, who has acted in Intime productions before, will join Adrienne Parks and Lisa Carnochan in "Old Times," acting under the direction of Allison Mankin.

"Old Times" will play for two weeks. Subscriptions are on sale for the six-play season, and information about them may be obtained by calling 452-8181.

ON FILM.....

Carney, Diana Ross. Art Carney is the 72-year-old who travels the country with his cat, searching for new consciousness and sexual freedom in "Harry and Tonto," the film that will open Theatre Intime's fall movie series.

It will be shown on a double bill with "Lady Sings the Blues" this Friday and Saturday in Murray Theatre. In "Lady Sings the Blues," Diana Ross brings back memories of Billie Holiday, sometimes spoken of as "the greatest blues singer America ever produced."

The two films will be shown alternately, starting at 7:30 p.m. "Harry and Tonto" is first on Friday and will be shown again at midnight. "Lady" will be screened at 9:30. The schedule is reversed Saturday, except that "Harry and Tonto" will be shown at 10.

TRY-OUTS SCHEDULED

For Charlie Brown Musical. Auditions for Pennington Players' production of the musical "You're a Good Man, Charlie Brown" will be held Sunday afternoon and Tuesday evening at Heritage Hall of the Pennington Presbyterian Church.

Youthful looking actors who sing well are needed for the six roles, all of which are Peanuts cartoon characters. Those interested should call 737-0718 between 10 and 5 for an appointment.

News of the Theatres

The production will be directed and choreographed by Joan Lucas, who is the choreographer of McCarter Theater's annual PJ&B musical, as well as many Princeton Triangle Club shows. The musical director will be Richard Loatman, who has served in that capacity for many area productions. Show dates are November 12,13,19 and 20.

STILLS HERE

October 17. Celebrating ten years in the folk and folk-rock music world, Stephen Stills will bring his singing and song-writing talents to Dillon gym Sunday, October 17 at 8 p.m. under McCarter's auspices.

With him will be the six members of his current band, including song-writer Rick Robers, a founding member of Firefall, one of the season's newest bands.

In a chronicle of Stills' career, McCarter points out that he helped found the Buffalo Springfield in 1965, writing for that group "Bluebird," "Everydays" and "For What It's Worth." The group broke up in 1968.

In late 1969, Stills joined with David Crosby and Graham Nash for the album, "Crosby, Stills and Nash," which included "Suite: July Blue Eyes," one of Stills' best-known compositions. The group never toured, but their only album as a trio sold over a million copies.

Neil Young joined to make a quartet, and the group appeared that year at Woodstock. Later, it appeared in the Woodstock movie, released the "Deja Vu" album, then disbanded.

THIRD YEAR BEGINS

For New Brunswick Playhouse. What the George Street Playhouse hopes will be a championship season will open Friday, October 8, with Jason Miller's "That Championship Season." It will play Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights through October 30.

The theatre is located at 414 George Street (plenty of parking) in New Brunswick. Information is available at 201-246-3530.

Miller's drama concerns the lives and illusions of members of a basketball team who meet to commemorate the 20th anniversary of "that championship season."

Following that play, the Playhouse will present the premiere of "Brothers," by George Street's producing director, Eric Krebs. The drama follows two brothers building a house in the wilderness, who find personal goals in conflict with lives and work. It will play from November 12 to December 4.

For the holiday season, the Playhouse will present "Noel and Coel," a cabaret featuring the works of Coward and Porter. It will run from December 10 through January 8.

Beginning the winter season will be "A Midsummer Night's Dream," in an environmental setting with music. Playing dates are January 21 to February 12.

After that, thePlayhouse will stage Agatha Christie's record-running mystery, "The Mousetrap" (February 25 to March 19). The season will end with Samuel Beckett's "Waiting for Godot," to be presented from April 22 to May 14.

CLASSES TO START

At Dance Center. The Contemporary Dance Center, formerly the Dance Co-Op of Princeton, has announced the opening of classes in exercise and dance for young people and adults at three Princeton area locations. Emphasis is on creative movement and modern dance at the Center, recently reorganized under the direction of Esther Seligmann.

Beginning the week of October 11, classes will be held at St. Matthew's Church, Pennington, at Beth El; Synagogue, Hightstown, and at the Kehoe Studios on the Lawrenceville Road, next to Squibb. Thirty weeks of classes will be offered, through March 20 with breaks for Thanksgiving, Christmas and spring vacations.

Mrs. Seligmann, who heads the faculty of professional dancers and experienced teachers, trained in Germany in the Wigman and Laban techniques, and in this country in Horton, Limon, Cunningham and Dunham

MUSIC
In Princeton

FULL SEASON SET

By N.J. Symphony. The mood is "allegro" as the Princeton area chapter of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra League sets its directions for the 1976-1977 symphony season. Among the Symphony's musical offerings will be a Wednesday evening subscription series of three concerts at McCarter Theatre; a special holiday performance of Handel's "Messiah" with the Symphony joined by the Westminster Choir; and, for the first time, four children's concerts that most elementary and middle school students in the area will attend.

At the start of the third year of supporting NJSO activities, Mrs. Gavin Hildick-Smith, League president, has announced expanded efforts to keep pace with the increased interest in symphonic music. Although sold out for the past two seasons, subscriptions are still available for this year's series of Wednesday evening concerts on November 10, February 9 and March 9. Subscribers may call the NJSO box office (201)624-8203, or charge subscriptions by phone by calling (201)332-6360.

According to the subscriptions chairman Mrs. Walter Gips Jr., brochures are available at McCarter box office. Further details on the December 8 "Messiah" performance at McCarter will be available early in October.

Arrangements for the special children's concerts are being coordinated by Mrs. Henry A.G. King, the league's education chairman. Middle-schoolers will attend back-to-back programs at McCarter Theatre on Wednesday morning, November 10, while elementary school children will hear a different program at Princeton Day School on Thursday morning, April 14. Plans are also underway for high school students to attend orchestra rehearsal "look-ins" at Symphony Hall in Newark.

The Princeton chapter of the NJSO League invites all interested persons to membership in the chapter and to join in support of its many activities. Call Mrs. William Humphrey at 896-1611, or Mrs. Eugene Haring at 921-2381 for further information.

BREAM IS BACK

So Is Ashkenazy. Julian Bream, who has played his lute on McCarter's stage since Music-at-McCarter began in 1964, will be back on the series again, playing its premiere concert Monday, November 15. McCarter says there has never been an unsold seat for a Bream concert.

Vladimir Ashkenazy, Soviet pianist who is now a British citizen, will be the next artist, appearing Monday, December 6. All seven concerts will be given at McCarter Monday and Tuesday nights at 8 p.m.

The Tokyo String Quartet will appear in January, making its first Music-at-McCarter appearance with guest pianist Richard Goode. In February, harpsichordist Anthony Newman and cellist Lynn Harrell will join in an all-Bach program which will include the complete gamba sonatas.

Violinist Eugene Fodor, winner of the 1974 Tschaikowsky competition in Moscow, will make his McCarter debut in March, and Alicia De Larrocha, sometimes called "the First Lady of the keyboard" will return to Princeton in April.

The series will conclude in May with the second appearance of "Tashi," the chamber music group founded by pianist Peter Serkin.

WAVERLY CONSORT BACK

For Series I Concert. The Princeton University Concerts will bring back The Waverly Consort, under Michael Jaffee's direction, as the first event in Series I on Monday, October 11, 1976, at 8:30 p.m. in Mc Carter Theatre.

The Consort will present a fully staged production of "Le Roman de Fauvel" with colorful costumes, scenic effects and narration. The musicians will include six singers and five instrumentalists on more than 50 medieval instruments. The Roman de Fauvel" is a unique blend of poetry, music and visual art, based on the vast 14th century "Fauvel" collection in the Bibliotheque Nationale de Paris.

The Waverly Consort has been given a generous grant by the Mellan Foundation for the purpose of editing, adapting and presenting this unique collection in a fully staged and costumed production.

Tickets are available at the McCarter Theatre Box Office (beginning October 2) at $7.25 and $5.95; students at $2.50 the day of the concert.

QUINTET AT WORK FOR SYMPHONY: Leise Nadeau, principal harpist for the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, and Jerome Carrington, a trustee of the Orchestra and its principal cellist, performed a mini-concert Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dennison to benefit the Princeton area chapter of the NJSO League. Standing, from left, are Mrs. Henry A.G. King, the league's education chairman; Mrs. Walter Gips Jr., in charge of subscriptions; and Mrs. William Humphrey, membership chairman.

A TOUCH OF JAPAN

At Gallery 100. It is little more than a century since Admiral Perry brought knowledge of Japan into the West and broke through the isolation that had kept this culture separate from the rest of the world. Once the barriers were broken, it did not take many years for this highly-developed culture to extend itself beyond Japanese boundaries and alter pattern of taste and style in the arts and fashion of Western societies.

Over the years, as other cultures have been enriched through contributions from the Orient, the stylistic effects of Western art and society have touched and altered Japanese styles and manners, often homogeonizing the contrasting cultural influences.

Graphic arts is one area where such cultural blends of technique and style have become apparent. Although Japanese printmakiog was steeped in formal tradition both technically and stylistically, the changes in the arts that have taken place elsewhere have influenced and altered the overall effect of printmaking in Japan. Though there are still traces of traditional forms and concern with particular Japanese balances and spatial harmonies, Japanese printmaking today is reflective of the international art community.

The current display of contemporary Japanese prints at Gallery 100 reflects the cultural and aesthetic merger that has taken place. Contemporary universals in style and technique are occasionally complemented by elements that reveal the cultural origins of the artists.

Much of the traditional Japanese style is no longer present but has been replaced with a more immediate cultural representation. The majority of prints in the display indicate a contemporary concern with space and color rather than the more traditional elements.

Woodcuts, etchings, stencil prints as well as other media employ elements that are generally reflective of those in artistic communities everywhere. The interaction of representational forms and more abstract concepts, broken spatial relationships, textural and relief effects and multi-color technical effects, are all present in the display.

Some of the works shown, however, still retain a traditional Japanese aspect either through motif or technical approach. The combination of many styles, media and cultural point of view combine to make this a multi-faceted viewing experience.

The prints are complemented by a small display of pottery by Zelda Laschever, who was also responsible for assembling the collection. Small bowls are constructed in a personal manner and decorated with incised nature forms that delicately contrast with the ceramic surfaces.

At Squibb Galleries. A series of monumental landscapes by Joe DiGiorgio of Squibb Galleries on Route 206 offers a contemporary interpretation of a nineteenth century approach to painting. Pointillism, or neo-impressionism, developed by Seurat employed small areas

"REBIRTH": This tempera painting was executed in the medieval "Mische" technique, involving the painstaking application of many layers of color. The artist, Brigid Marlin, employs the images of Carl Jung and the themes of myth and legend. Paintings and prints by Ms. Marlin will be on view at Carrier Clinic through October 8.

develop her own patina and a somewhat slick effect without completely sacrificing a sense of the naive that makes her work pleasing.

Subjects are untempered by schooled amenities and conveyed with a directness that is often refreshing. Local landscapes, happy views of events and symbols of the past, children's toys and nature forms are presented using a clear, bright palette with intricate textural effects.

The artist is, however, drawing from her own success and in some of the paintings her experience tempers the spontaneity with a glibness while in other works it becomes technical maturity that enhances the effect.

—Helen Schwartz

ART AT CARRIER

Exploring Consciousness. "The Mind of Brigid Marlin," a collection of paintings and prints by the American artist Brigid Marlin, will be on view and for sale at the Carrier Clinic, Belle Mead, through next Friday, October 8.

An American artist painting in Hertfordshire, England, Ms. Marlin fills her works with visions and images familiar to students of Jungian psychology, taking her themes from myths and fairy tales, as well as from her own imagination.

Her paintings have been executed in a process called the "Mische" technique, dating from medieval times. Lost for many centuries, the process was revived in Vienna by Ernest Fuchs, with whom the artist studied in 1966. Paintings and prints by Ms. Marlin have been compared to the works of Dali, Magritte and Escher.

Carrier wilt open the show to the public from 2-4 p.m. daily and from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. during a symposium on "The Expanding Dimensions of Consciousness" to be held October 6 and by special appointment until the show closes October 8.

Additional information is available from Carrier at 201-874-4000.

of color in mathematically derived quantities assuming that the eye would combine the dots to blend the colors into secondary tones and then assimilate them as volumes rather than dots.

DiGiorgio has up-dated this technique by employing it in simplified landscapes, often as large as 24 feet, in which he relates wheatfields, mountains and marsh through well-designed volumes and patterns. A sense of high drama is created by the scale of the paintings together with the visual dynamism created by the application of the paint and the combinations of color.

The romanticism and tranquillity of the landscape and the vigor with which the paint is used join to surround the viewer with a sense of harmony that is created by the well-balanced compositions. Pleasing rhythms and softened tones temper the impact of the colossal scale of the paintings displayed.

DiGiorgio has created a body of work that is consistently well developed and competentty executed. Although the landscapes are diversified, they create a harmonious environment for the viewer almost enclosing one of the painterly poetry of this collection.

At the Loft Gallery, Primitive painting is most admired for the direct impression that the artist is able to convey to the viewer. Unimpeded by the inhibitions and veneer created by extensive training, the primitive painter responds to his subject with a freshness and honesty that are often muted by a carefully-trained artist.

THE BITE IS BIGGER EVERY YEAR

Since 1973, the amount raised through property taxes for Princeton Township budgets has increased 47%.

MAYBE THAT'S WHY PEOPLE KEEP TALKING TO US ABOUT TAXES

Taxes are tough on all of us. Getting the most for our money is essential. We think the Township can do more to reduce the tax bite.

HERE'S WHAT WE THINK WE CAN DO TO HOLD THE LINE

- FIGHT for our fair share of County revenues, the way Hopewell and other townships are doing.
- RESIST the drift toward letting other agencies get us into huge spending programs without proper control and monitoring—programs like the proposed sewer expansion.
- WORK to attract and accommodate just enough "profitable" ratables to balour tax structure.
- PROTECT our pocketbooks the way we've started to protect our resources, by making economic impact studies along with environmental impact studies before capital expenditure decisions are made.

election: to keep Princeton a desirable place to live for all people. You can't be all things to all people, but you can truly listen, and I would like to represent all segments of the community."

Zoning Changes Urged. Housing is the main issue, in Mr. Trotman's view and he would like to explore zoning changes that would allow home-owners to rent a room or apartment.

"In some zones, you can cut up a house into apartments, in others you can't, and this is an inequitable situation," he says, "I'm certain it would interest the zoning board to make this possible."

Mr. Trotman, who is black, feels "it is important that the black community have a voice representing them. They haven't been included in the mainstream in the past. I don't feel one person can represent the whole black community, but I can be a sounding board and relay the message. Not that someone else couldn't, but I've known 98 percent of the black people all my life, and I would see that their serious problems were acted on."

Middle-income housing downtown in the CBD, for people who work in the CBD and would like to walk to work, appeals to Mrs. Medvin. She points out that it would both provide a tax rateable and meet a need.

"Rent levelling is a serious problem," she continues. "Tenants often feel there are inequities and one group gets more favorable rulings than another. Sections of the law should be "re-thought," she declares.

Mr. Trotman proposes stricter enforcement of the dog ordinance, perhaps with a part-time helper to the dog-control officer, or the assignment of a police officer to the job.

"Someone looking at you and saying 'You can be fined' would be quite a deterrent for people who let their dogs run, overturning garbage."

Unfair Ticketing. "Tree" streets are discriminated against in parking regulations, Mrs. Medvin declares. "I walked Madison one afternoon and every car had a ticket. We could give home-owners a sticker so their guests wouldn't get tickets. Parking garages are so costly! I'd rather see other alternatives explored, like (Council member) Nelson van den Blink's satellite lots, before we go full swing."

Mrs. Medvin also sets high priority on a permanent liaison person between governing bodies and the school board.

"Someone on both governing bodies must be trained to know the school board's budgeting problems, and the board must realize the town gets the smallest proportion of the tax dollar," she says.

"Town meetings," held at various churches, are proposed by Mr. Trotman, who feels people would air grievances more readily there than in a Council meeting.

"People have good ideas, but they are overwhelmed. They see professors and businessmen and say to themselves, "I'm not that smart – I better not speak.'"

Mr. Trotman, who believes police-community relations have improved, would like to see police go back to foot patrols so they would come to know people on a beat.

"If it's 'Hi, Charley, howya doing?'" that's better than 'Here Comes the Fuzz!' and if an arrest is ever necessary, there isn't so much hostility."

A Merchant's View. Voters will be asked to select Mr. Urken or Mr. Selden for the two-year seat.

"Housing is a major issue," Mr. Urken declares, "and so is parking. As a merchant, I feel I'm representing a very large group that has no 'say'. And I hear from people in my store – they're mad or worried over getting a parking ticket. You take a lawyer or a hairdresser -- they have to stop in the middle of caring for a client and rush out to plug the meter."

"Parking is the merchants' and the customers' problem – we all have a stake in it. I don't want to be a forecaster of doom, but unfortunate economic things might happen to the CBD if parking isn't solved."

"A parking garage shouldn't come out of Borough revenue, but through a parking utility raising money some other way than through taxes. This has been studied, and studied and the time for action has come. If the decision is 'no' on a garage, then give me something else – don't just say 'can it'."

A Constructive Approach. "Reconciling differences in a constructive way – I consider that my major commitment," Mr. Selden declares.

"I'm distressed by the divisions in the community in recent months," he said. "inflammatory accusations and statements directed against one or another segment of the community and attempts to capitalize on the resulting cleavages, are most disturbing," he says.

"The Borough has limited space," Mr. Selden continues, "and we must co-operate closely with the Township and the University on housing: both have the land, and in addition, the University has students and its own employees. Vituperative comments simply make it more difficult to talk about necessary solutions."

"People tell me the Borough needs a broader balance of views on Council. I think the ability of a candidate to serve the total community should be the basis for election – not party affiliation.

Two three-year seats are available. Incumbent Martin P. Lombardo and David Male are the Democratic candidates, opposed by Priscilla Waring Pols and Richard Woodbridge, Republicans.

The one-party Council is seen by Republicans as the main issue, and they say voters agree, according to comments made as candidates go door-to-door.

"We need to work together, and it is very bad to encourage 'us' and 'them' feelings," Mrs. Pols declares.

"We hear opposition to partisanship above and beyond anything else," Mr. Woodbridge agrees.

Taxes No. 1. Taxes are the number one priority, in Mr. Lombardo's view, and Mr. Male, agreeing, thinks the school board isn't aware as it should be of the school tax burden.

"I strongly suggest money we get from the state income-tax be ear-marked for holding down the tax rate, not just plowed into new programs," Mr. Lombardo states, "we must consider program cost-effectiveness."

Mr. Woodbridge thinks voters are more interested in taxes, particularly in the tax rebate, than in who's running.

Parking and traffic should be the concern of a new parking committee, Mr. Woodbridge proposes, urging "a more professional basis" for studying parking and traffic.

Mrs. Pols regards a parking garage as "too expensive," but suggests that combining one with housing would help the cost.

"The solution isn't just to cut taxes," Mr. Male says, "sometimes people don't realize what a bargain government is – suppose you were billed by the police for chasing a burglar away! It's important not to overlook needed services."

Encouraging more citizen involvement is important to Mr. Lombardo, and he proposes increasing use of meeting announcements distributed to homes by volunteers. He likes the idea of cash contributions by citizens who have money but little time, and volunteer service by others.

Tigers' Search for Offense Complicated by Injury to Isom— Quarterback Switch Possible for Brown Game Here Saturday

ONCE WAS NOT ENOUGH: Ted Schiller (89), Princeton's All-Ivy tackle, sacks Rutgers quarterback Bert Kosup for 10-yard loss early in Saturday's game. Visitors' ability and balance prevelled, however, for 17-0 victory. (Bob Matthews photo)

Having met and lost to what is probably the best team on its schedule, Princeton will return to the Ivy wars in football Saturday against Brown – one of the pre-season favorites for the league title. Game-time in Palmer Stadium will be 1:30.

About all the Tigers will have going for them against the Bruins is awareness that the Rhode Islanders do not have quite the size and the skill of the team that shut them out, 17 to 0, last weekend. Brown has, however, held its first two opponents, Yale and Rhode Island, to a lone touchdown and odds are not that Princeton will solve its numerous problems fast enough to achieve an upset.

The Orange and Black goes into the game weighted down by knowledge that:

- It is the only team in Princeton football history to have played its first two games without scoring a touchdown.
- It will in all likelihood take the field with its top runner, Bobby Isom, still benched with a severe ankle sprain.
- The switch of Mike Carter to flanker back has negated his ball-carrying contributions, a loss underscored by Isom's injury. Against Rutgers last week, Carter carried nine times for a total gain of 10 yards.
- The quarterback situation remains unsolved, although there were indications, off his performance Saturday, that junior Kirby Lockhart may eventually do the job that senior Jack Flannery has not in a game and a half this season.

For Tigers, It Was No Go. A fine Rutgers defense and the early second quarter injury to Isom combined to pare Princeton's yards gained rushing to one of its lowest totals in years – 36 in the first half and just three in the second. Such totals are, of course, revised downward whenever a quarterback is sacked behind the line of scrimmage, since statistically, that counts as a running play. Fact remains, however, that the Orange and Black never once ran far enough to record a first down and never moved the ball with authority. It needed either Rutgers fumbles or penalties to enable it to cross midfield most of the time it managed to do so, and by the time the goal line was finally within sight (14 yards away), the ball was lost on downs with less than three minutes to go.

SPORTS In Princeton

It was a good possibility at midweek that Lockhart might be given the starting assignment against Brown. While the Tigers' inability to do more than kick a field goal in their first two games is by no means Flannery's total responsibility, a team's offensive problems are invariably laid at the quarterback's door.

Although his completion percentage (8 for 16) has been satisfactory, his release tends to be slow and his passes somewhat inaccurate. When he fumbled a quarterback sneak to end a Princeton drive on the visitors' 27 midway through the second quarter, Lockhart replaced him for the rest of the game.

The latter showed ability to get rid of the ball faster, to throw a pass with considerable character and, against a standout Rutgers front four, completed 8 of 15 in his varsity debut. If he proves no more than Flannery's equal, he will probably get the job because he has another year in college, and that would allow Bob Casciola to start the 1977 season with an established quarterback.

Defense Did Well. Defensively, Princeton did fully as well as could have been expected against the calibre of opposition Rutgers can deploy. The Tigers held the Scarlet to 96 yards total offense and 7 points in the first half, and only their highly visible problems in mounting an attack prevented them from still being in the ball game at that point.

By the end of the afternoon, the losers had accumulated only 128 yards in total offense and had managed only three third down conversions out of 14 such possibilities. Four fumbles, all costly even though only one was lost, were a deterrent, as were the 88 yards assessed in penalties.

There were a number of fine performances on defense, notably by the two big tackles, Ted Schiller and Steve Fletcher; linebacker Paul McKeon, who led all with nine unassisted tackles and four assists; and safety Pete Bartlett, who continues to field his position in eye-catching fashion.

It was, actually, the Rutgers' defense which dominated the game, earning the shutout so convincingly that it erased any problems that might have accrued to the Knights' offense when it was charged with five fumbles (two lost) and an astonishing 115 yards in penalties. The victors eventually netted 314 yards in total offense and several times in the second half ate up much of the clock with long ball-control drives.

The visitors got their first score on a 51-yard drive just before the first period ended and after a scoreless second quarter, added a 25-yard field goal at 7:07 of the third round. A 48-yard march that culminated in a second TD early in the fourth quarter gave Rutgers its first victory in the Stadium since 1973 and ran the Tigers' losing streak on their home field to six.

Their last triumph here was

SPORTS FANS! I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Brought to you By John Bernard

Here's a football oddity...While some pro football teams have trouble finding just 1 good quarterback, the Chicago Bears of 1948 had three of the greatest quarterbacks of all-time on their team that year– Sid Luckman, Johnny Lujack and Bobby Layne--and, oddly enough, failed to finish first!

Has any National Football League team ever gone through an entire game without making any first downs?...It seems unbelievable, but the answer is yes...Last time it happened was in 1966 when Denver failed to make a first down the whole game against Houston.

Oddly enough, did you know that a field goal was once worth more in football than a touchdown!...In some of the early years, a touchdown counted for only 4 points while at the same time a field goal was worth 5 points!

over Rutgers last fall, so it is now more than a year that anyone who has not gone on the road with them has seen them win.

BROWN CONFIDENT

Bruins Eye Ivy Title. Having dominated Yale in its first Ivy contest of the season, Brown's capable football team has visions of winning its first football championship since the league was formed more than two decades ago. The Bruins, who for years almost never finished in first division, have been a factor in each race since 1973 and last year missed tying Harvard only because they were held to a 10-all tie by Dartmouth.

Graduation struck heavily at the Rhode Islanders, who lost seven starting members of a solid offensive unit and six more on defense. Numerous good replacements are, however, at hand as the strong recruiting program that Coach John Anderson launched three years ago has taken root.

Paul Michalko, a sophomore quarterback two years ago who lost his job to Vermont transfer Bob Bateman last fall, is running the team this season and hit for 15 of 26 and 136 yards in the 14-6 triumph over Yale. The principal ball carriers are halfbacks Seth Morris and Wally Shields and fullback Bill Hill.

Principal holdovers on the rebuilt line are All-Ivy center Mike Prairie and All-Ivy split end Bob Farnham who, with Bateman pitching to him last year, became the nation's leading receiver with 56 passes for 701 yards. He and Michalko will test the Princeton secondary more than it has been through the air in its first two games.

Brown has lost its fine placekicking specialist, Jose Violante, who booted a 42-varder last fall in the 24-16 victory the Bruins took home from Palmer Stadium. His successor, Greg Rorke, has already made his mark with the only score in the Rhode Island game Saturday to keep the Bruins unbeaten.

Princeton's chances rest on the fact that its defensive unit has played two good games and appears ready to improve as the season progresses, whereas Brown is using a largely-rebuilt offensive platoon. The blocking and ball carrying problems confronting the Tigers are so great, however, that they do not appear capable of scoring often enough to win.

PDS WINS FIRST

Montclair Next. In a short seven-game season, there is no time to sit around and think about defeats, and it was evident last Friday afternoon that the Princeton Day football team had put the bad experience against Chestnut Hill completely out of its mind.

Rebounding from the 46-0 loss the week before, the Panthers played good, spirited football, whipping Englewood 21-8 in their home opener. It was no piece of cake either. After taking a 7-0 lead near the end of the first half, the Blue and White fell behind, 8-7, in the third quarter and had to rally in the fourth to gain the victory.

Outstanding in the victory were running backs Mark Zawadsky and Rob Olsson and freshman Jeff Freda, who started his first game at quarterback. Zawadsky ran for 150 yards, scoring twice in the process and Olsson picked up 122 and scored once. Freda hit on six of nine passes for 66 yards.

Commenting on Freda's showing, coach Rob Hoffman said: "Although just a ninth grader, Freda has gained a lot of confidence in himself and the confidence of his teammates. This was the one spot that was a little shaky at the beginning of the season, but no more. We have proved we can throw as well as run."

Princeton Day's next test will come against Montclair away on Saturday morning. Hoffman reported that Montclair lost its opening game last week to Riverdale High School, and is not especially tough this year. The team lost some players at the start of the fall when they transferred to Montclair High School.

Montclair will be bigger physically than PDS, but "we can win if we control the ball the way we did against Englewood," Hoffman said.

QUICK LOOK AT BROWN

OFFENSE: Rebuilding after graduation of quarterback Bob Bateman with Paul Michalko as his successor. End Bob Farnham major threat in aerial game but overall attack may have trouble with Tiger defense.

DEFENSE: Has been prime factor in three straight victories over Tigers, limiting them to average of less than two TDs since 1973.

CHIEF ASSET: Good overall balance combined with knowledge that Brown plays winning football under Coach John Anderson (in three years, 15-9-2).

CHIEF PROBLEM: Backfield strength still a question mark. Slim 3-0 victory over Rhode Island leaves quality of attack in some doubt.

TYPE OF ATTACK: Multiple T.

The first period was scoreless as the teams traded interceptions that halted drives. PDS was also hurt by a holding penalty after it had reached Englewood's 15 yard line. Near the end of the first period the Panthers began another advance, which ended with a 30-yard field goal attempt by Dave Barondess fell short at the beginning of the second quarter.

Hoffman's Gamble Works. Another Englewood drive was stopped and PDS took over with 5:56 left in the half. Deep in his own territory, Hoffman told the Panthers to run, instead of kick, on fourth and one, and it paid off. A couple of key passes by Freda and PDS had first down on its own 38. At this point Zawadsky took Freda's handoff, cut to the outside and ran down the right sideline, 62 yards for a touchdown, PDS's first of the season. Chris Price kicked the extra point and the Blue and White led 7-0.

Englewood controlled the ball most of the third quarter and finally put six points on the board with 2:27 remaining on a three-yard run off tackle. Then going for two points, the visitors scored on a quarterback keep to take an 8-7 lead.

PDS started on its own 40 after the kickoff and again began to move, carried by the running of Olsson and Zawadsky and a key pass play. On third and 13 Freda threw to Barondess, who made a beautiful over the head catch just in bounds to give the Panthers a first down on the Englewood 30.

Two plays later Olsson turned a small gain into a touchdown, when he broke away from several tacklers and sprinted into the end zone from 29 yards out. Barondess again converted and PDS led 14-6.

Aided by a personal foul, Englewood mounted another drive into Panther territory, but was stopped when Zawadsky intercepted a third down pass.

PDS began slowly to run out the clock, as Olsson carried time after time on slants into the line. His running carried the Blue and White down to the Englewood 13, where Freda

PHS BRACES FOR EWING

After Opening 28-0 Loss. The Piners came to Princeton Monday and it was the Little Tiger football team that received an education in how to win a football game.

Lakewood scored three times in the third period--twice within two minutes--and added a fourth score with 2:11 left to play in the contest to defeat Princeton High, 28-0. Bad enough. But PHS coach Jim Beachell said after the game that he feels Ewing, Princeton's opponent on Saturday, is a much better team than Lakewood.

"They (Ewing) have their strongest team in many years. They haven't beaten us, I think, for seven years so they'll be up for us."

Beachell then listed Ewing's attributes. A line that averages, he said, between 210 and 220. Faster backs than those of Lakewood, which tore through the interior PHS forward wall with little hindrance, and a quarterback "100 percent better" than Lakewood's Larry Jones.

Ewing quarterback Jerry Davis, Beachell pointed out, was 8-for-9 in the Blue Devils's opening 28-21 victory over St. Anthony and PHS has no one that can match him in passing. Actually, Davis was 7-for-8 for 166 yards. The biggest was a 26-yard strike to Tony Johnson with five seconds left to give Ewing its dramatic win. Ewing's first score came on a 27-yard aerial from Davis to Johnson.

Ewing also has a fine runner in Ken Hoagland, who rushed for 94 yards in 11 carries against the Iron Mikes, one of the early season favorites to capture the new Colonial Valley league crown.

If all this weren't enough, detaying the opener with Lakewood until Monday because of the conflict with Rosh Hashanna has left Beachell in a deep hole as far as preparation is concerned. What it means, said Beachell, is that he only has two days of hard practice--this Wednesday and Thursday--to prepare. The game will be played at PHS starting at 11.

THE RACE ISN'T ALWAYS TO THE STRONG: It was a long afternoon for PHS tailback Tony Strong, shown here being stopped for a loss in the third period, and the rest of his Little Tiger teammates as they were blanked, 28-0, by visiting Lakewood Monday.

What Happened. "In the second half, they just came out and wiped out our line," commented Beachell, trying to explain the second half blitz by Lakewood. "Our kids just weren't fired up; it's a matter of inexperience." Lakewood's line was also a lot bigger, Beachell added. "They have four tackles over 200, we have one."

The first half was a stalemate with perhaps a slight edge to Princeton which penetrated deepest. Very early in the second period, the Little Tigers had a first down on the Lakewood 14 but that scoring chance evaporated when Tony Strong fumbled the ball away on the next play. Bruno Perna and Dave Miller each recovered Lakewood fumbles as both squads were victims of first-game jitters.

The second half was all Lakewood. Starting on their own 44 following a short kickoff, Albo Butler and Scott Peterson alternated carrying for big gainers, Peterson getting the final eight off tackle, shedding tacklers along the way. "We hit 'em but we didn't hit them," said a disgruntled PHS onlooker.

Less than two minutes later, Butler gathered in a Todd Blackledge punt around the 45 and, escorted by a number of blockers, raced down the sideline to score with 6:58 left in the period. Jones ran the PAT attempt over to give the Piners a 14-0 bulge.

Change in Quarterbacks. For the next series, Blackledge, a sophomore, took over for Scott Thompson at quarterback for PHS. His baptism was shaky. He fumbled the first snapback and then threw two incompletions. "Come on, we're dying, we're dying," said a PHS tackle as his team had to punt again.

PHS was not dead yet but when Jones scored again from the two with two minutes left to play in the period there was little hope. Chiefly, because PHS could muster no attack of its own and the defensive line was unable to contain Lakewood's rampaging backs.

Lakewood's third TD had been set up when, following a recovered fumble by Princeton's Chris McDonald, Peterson picked off a Blackledge pass and returned it to the PHS 34. The game's final drive began on the PHS 39. Dave Miller prevented a certain Lakewood score when he batted down a Jones' pass at the last instant but it was a stop-gap effort. A few plays later, Ron DeLigny, another of Lakewood's collection of running backs, barreled over from the two.

Blackledge tried to get PHS moving in the final minutes with the pass, hitting Ron Reimann for one completion. However the charging Lakewood line got to him most of the time before he was able to set up.

Aside from the running of Strong, the workhorse of the PHS ground game who was smothered by the Lakewood line most of the time, and some pass receptions by Reimann, was little Beachell could point to.

When Lakewood coach Ed Brandt opened the PHS defense up in the second half by spreading his linemen further apart, Beachell said his players were not able to pick it up. "Our line is very inexperienced," he said.

FIRST GAME SATURDAY

In West Windsor Stadium. The West Windsor-Plainsboro football team will play its first game in its new football stadium adjacent to the high school Saturday at 1:30 and coach Rex Walker is hoping the outcome against Lawrence High will be different than last week's opener in Hammonton.

Chalking up sizeable gains virtually every time it handled the ball, Hammonton rushed for 410 yards in handing West Windsor a 36-21 defeat. "They dominated us inside from tackle to tackle," said Walker.

Lawrence will be coming in untested. The Cardinals were unable to pencil in an opponent for last week's date and have no record. "They're not deep but they have a good first team," said Walker.

Hammonton scored after only 2:07 had elapsed when Tony Colabria went over from 28 yards out. Colabria and Dave Ramundo ripped through the West Windsor defense for 150 yards each as Hammonton threw only one pass.

"They controlled the line of scrimmage and just ate up the yardage," Walker said. The Pirates, in turn, rushed for 100 yards and had 116 in the air, the latter on a 9-for-18 completion by quarterback Dave Watson.

Sophomore Joe Davis got West Windsor's first score in the second period on a one-yard run. The Pirates added two more in the final periods on runs by Chris Holcombe (4 yards) and Ron Dilatush, who scampered 42 yards. Hammonton led 28-7 at the half.

HUN VS. PEDDIE

After 15-12 Opening Loss. A Hun School football team which twice saw visiting Admiral Farragut come from behind en route to a 15-12 victory last week will try again Saturday to nail down that first win.

Hun will play host to Peddie in a 1:30 contest. Like Hun, the Falcons dropped their opener, 27-22, to Williamson Trade despite a 162-yard rushing performance by Greg Zipf which included a 40-yard TD run.

"It's going to be a tough game," predicted Hun coach Dave Leete. "They're a little bigger than we are but we expect to be ready. Hopefully, we can cut down on our mistakes."

Hun made a few too many mistakes against Farragut on Friday, Leete acknowledged, the most crippling of which came with about a minute to play and Hun driving for the go-ahead touchdown. Hun fumbled the snapback on its 25, Farragut recovered and insured its come-from-behind victory.

Tim Teel and Dave Dudeck were the two outstanding ball carriers for Hun. Dudeck, who rushed for 147 yards in 23 carries, scored the game's first TD in the second quarter on a seven-yard burst that culminated an eight-minute drive. Hun's two-point PAT run failed.

Farragut tied it at 6 with 4:34 left in the third period – it took three cracks from the one-yard line to do it – but Dwight Hallett broke through to block the attempted extra point kick. Then after the Future Admirals went ahead following a 23-yard field goal, Dudeck gave Hun the lead again with two big plays.

He returned the ensuing kickoff to the Farragut 48 and one play later burst off tackle and threaded his way through the AF secondary for a 43-yard TD romp.

But again the lead changed hands as Jeff Tezanian capped u Farragut drive to acore from one yard out with 5:37 left to play. "We saw them the week before and we knew it was going to be pretty even. As it was, it turned out that way," Leete commented.

PANTHERS TAKE TWO

In Soccer. After playing to a scoreless tie in the season's opener against PHS, the Princeton Day soccer team won two contests last week, nipping George, 2-1, on Friday, and routing Morristown-Beard, 8-1, on Wednesday.

The Panthers will play at Montclair Saturday morning. A game against Delbarton was scheduled for this Wednesday, September 29. Next Wednesday, October 6 they will meet Hun at home.

PDS controlled the ball for three-fourths of the game against George, but needed a tally by Mike Walters with a little more than two minutes remaining to put this one in the win column. Walters also scored the first goal to put the Blue and White ahead 1-0 in the second period.

George managed to tie the contest near the end of the first half, when an indirect kick glanced off fullback Quinn McCord's head and into the net, eluding goalie Rob McClellan, who was moving the other way.

George came out more aggressively in the third period, the only one in which it had the edge offensively, but the PDS defense held firm. Coach Tom Devito cited sweeperback Dave Malley and fullbacks Andy Sanford and McCord for their fine defensive play.

PDS took back control of the action in the final quarter, and it finally paid off with Walters shot. He narrowly missed another score a moment later.

Last Wednesday, the Panthers had little trouble disposing of Morristown-Beard. Walters scored four times, giving him six goals in two games. He headed in three and put the fourth in with his foot.

PDS had a 4-0 lead before the home team got its lone tally. Others who scored for PDS included Jay Nusblatt, Evan Press, Baird Winham and freshman John Wolfe, who picked up a goal and an assist.

SOCCER WIN RECORDED

By Lawrenceville. The Lawrenceville School Soccer Team took to the road Saturday to take on Penn Charter in Philadelphia. Having to settle for a tie with Hopewell Valley on Wednesday, the Larries were out to prove themselves, and did so quite effectively by soundly defeating Penn Charter 2-0.

Although both scores came in the first half of play, the Larries completely dominated the game putting tremendous pressure on the Penn Charter defense. With 26 seconds left in the half Michael Hallaker scored for the Larries, followed several seconds later by Tom Hart, who drove in a penalty shot with 20 seconds left in the period.

Lawrenceville was scheduled to face the Hun School on home ground at 2:30 this Wednesday.

LAWRENCEVILLE LOSES

In Opener of 100th Season. The Lawrenceville School Football team opened its 100th season on a sour note, losing to a tough Penn Charter team, 30-14.

Right from the start, the well-disciplined Pennsylvania team dominated with a solid running game backed by the superb passing of quarterback John Loughery. Loughery hit 10 out of 13 passes for 127 yards, while running backs Matt McArdle, Walt Matweychuk, Frank DeSantis, and J.R. Castle combined for 280 yards rushing.

After a scoreless first period, Penn Charter scored on the opening play of the second quarter when Matt McArdle burst over from the one on a third down play. The touchdown capped a 63 yard drive in 13 plays. Castle's kick gave Penn Charter a 7-0 lead.

Later in the second quarter, McArdle again scored on a 14-yard end run. Frank DeSantis set up the score with a 31 yard run to the Larries' 19 yard line. Four minutes later Castle kicked a 17-yard field goal to give Penn Charter a commanding 17-0 lead at the half.

Lawrenceville closed the gap to 17-6 in the third period when Scott Silvester jumped on a McArdle fumble and three plays later Kevin Ellis threw a 50-yard bomb to Billy Harrison. However, the Lawrenceville momentum proved to be short-lived when Penn Charter's Loughery hit Rick Resch with a 14-yard pass. Resch scored again with seconds left in the third quarter on a nine-yard pass from Loughery.

The Larries scored once more late in the game with a 40-yard scoring drive in six plays. Tight end Dave Reynolds set up the score with a diving catch good for 23 yards. Tailback Kevin Ellis fired his second touchdown pass of the game, this time hitting Rich Clancy for 23 yards. Reynolds made another catch for the conversion, closing the margin to 30-14.

Lawrenceville hopes to fare better this weekend as it travels to Massachusetts to face Deerfield Academy.

DUDECK SCORES FOR HUN: Halfback Dave Dudeck bolts up the middle from 43 yards out to score Hun's second touchdown to give his team a 12-9 lead in the fourth quarter. Dudeck also scored Hun's other TD in 15-12 opening loss to Admiral Farragut.

PDS GIRLS VICTORIOUS

In Soccer and Field Hockey. The Princeton Day girls' soccer and field hockey teams both won contests last Friday afternoon, and remained unbeaten.

Traveling to Northern Burlington, the field hockey team had trouble moving in a slow first half. The home team scored first to take a 1-0 lead, but it was short-lived. PDS came back to tie the score on a goal by captain Barbie Russell before the intermission.

The second half was a different story. More movement and better teamwork produced the two tallies for the Panthers, while Northern Burlington was held scoreless. Michele Plante got the go-ahead score, and Holly Burks provided the insurance marker.

Earlier in the week, the Blue

Shillaber Edges Mudge in Springdale Golf

Rallying from a four-hole deficit with six to go, 19-year old Mike Shillaber, Jr. on Saturday became the youngest champion in the history of Springdale Golf Club. He won on the last green of a 36-hole match from Jack Mudge.

Shillaber was 2 up after the morning round but Mudge, a former member of the University of Virginia golf team, took four holes in a row when play resumed and had a lead of 3 up after 27. The two tied the 572-yard 10th hole in birdie 4s and Mudge then added to his lead with another birdie on the dogsleg 318-yard 11th.

The 413-yard 12th hole, one of the more difficult par 4s at Springdale, saw both men take bogey 5s, and Shillaber stood on the 13th tee 4 down and 6 to go. He won because he managed par figures on four of the last six, whereas Mudge never could shake bogey golf for the rest of the round.

Shillaber won the 185-yard 13th with a 3 when Mudge three-putted and then cut his deficit to two with a par 5 on the 470-yard 14th. Both players had trouble on the short 15th, taking bogey 4s, but Shillaber played 16 and 17 in regulation figures to square the match. Both men felt the pressure on the 383-yard 18th, each taking three shots to reach the green. Shillaber, however, needed only two putts and won the match with a bogey 5.

One of his opponents on the way to his first club championship was his brother Dave, whom he eliminated in the quarter-finals, 3 and 2. His other victories were scored over Steve Kahn 4 and 3, and Mosey Gates, 1 up in 19 holes.

Winner of the first flight was Pat Rulon-Miller, who won the final hole from Kester Pierson to finish 2 up. Ross Shrader took the Second Flight from Lyle Fitch, 5 and 3, while John Brophy won, 1 up, over Pete Budd to win the Third Flight.

and White won the season's opener against George School, 2-0. PDS was on the attack most of the afternoon, and only some fine saves by the George goalie kept the score down. Barbie Russell scored in the first half, and Harriette Brainard in the second.

The victories gave PDS a 2-0 mark going into a contest against Hopewell Valley scheduled to be played this Wednesday afternoon at PDS. The next game will be Wednesday, October 6 against Moorestown Friends. For Melissa Magee, in her first season as coach, last year will be a hard act to follow. The Panthers lost just one and tied two in 10 games.

Soccer Wins Easily. Coach Alan Taback was able to give his second team plenty of playing time Friday, as his charges whipped J.P. Stevens 4-0. It was the team's first triumph after a scoreless tie last Tuesday against Edison High.

"We're starting to play better soccer," Taback commented. "We are concentrating on short passes and thinking, rather than just playing kick and run. There was much better teamwork between the lines."

He cited Clooie Sherman who moved into the center halfback slot for playing an outstanding game, setting up the forward line very well. PDS had 30 shots on goal.

Alexis Arlett connected for two scores, and Ann McAlpin and Catherine Ferrante, one each.

Perhaps the biggest test of the season will come for the Blue and White this Friday when it meets Princeton High away at 3:45. PHS was undefeated last year, and has yet to lose so far this season. Next Wednesday, October 6, PDS will play Montgomery High away.

PHS GIRLS WIN

In Tennis, 5-0. The Princeton High School girls tennis team won its opening match of the season last week, defeating Hopewell Valley in a Colonial League contest, 5-0.

Karen Clark and Vera Jesser, the number one and two singles players, both won, 6-0, 6-1, while Leslie Krause, number three, triumphed in three sets, 4-6, 6-4, 6-4.

The number one doubles of Ellie Rose and Vicki Phillips won, 6-2, 6-0, and the number two doubles of Carol Ludlum and Nancy Ackerman completed the Little Tiger sweep with a 6-7, 6-2, 6-2 win.

The team is coached by Bill Humes. Although Humes is replacing Carol Wimberg this year, he is no newcomer to the PHS tennis scene, having coached the PHS boys tennis team the previous 15 years.

TOURNAMENT PLANNED

On Paddle Tennis. The American Paddle Tennis Association has sanctioned the first annual Princeton Mixed Paddle Tennis Tournament, to be held October 16-17.

The Bedens Brook Club will host the 64 team invitational event. Courts necessary for the tournament draw will be provided by the Community Park courts, Pretty Brook, Hopewell Valley and individual courts in Princeton.

Members of the tournament committee are Bob Simpkins, chairman; Allen Stowe, referee; Miles Dumont, David Fleming, Marcia Bowen, Hope Colt, Jerry Mould, Nancy Hatfield and Donald Barr. Invitations have been sent to the New Jersey, Philadelphia and New York metropolitan areas and it is expected that seedings will include some of the top-ranked players in the country.

Applications are available to any Princeton area APTA member or applicant by calling the Bedens Brook Club, 466-2646. The $25 entry fee includes a Saturday luncheon at the club. The club will also host a cocktail-dinner dance Saturday night that is open to all participants and interested spectators.

FIVE ARE NAMED

As Soccer League Directors. The Princeton Soccer Club has named five men to serve as a director for each of its divisions.

Rich Ballard will direct the Cub League for boys 7-8, which includes Allen's, LaVake, Tiger Auto, Firestone Real Estate, Minute Press, and Princeton Pizza Palace. Gary Grover will head the Youth League, ages 9-10, which includes Callaway Real Estate, Pietrinferno's, Princeton Printing, Earth Shoe, Peterson's Guides and The Gallup Poll.

The six teams in the Junior League, 11-12, will be headed by Mike Mahoney. Teams are Hinkson's, Stefanelli's, Center Sports, Wooden Nickel, Rooftop Antenna Service and U-Store. Sal Barzilay will run the Intermediate League, 13-14, consisting of Varsity Sport Shop, Hulit's Shoes, Laidlaw-Coggeshall and Nassau Hobby, and Chuck Lofgren will direct the Senior League, 15-16, which includes First National Bank, Princeton Savings and Loan Association, New Jersey National Bank and Lahiere's.

Hole-In-One Saturday

The annual Hole-in-One contest sponsored by the Princeton Borough, Township and West Windsor police will be held from 10 to 6 Saturday at the Springdale Driving Range off Springdale Road. Donation is $1 for two balls – no limit.

First prize is a 19-inch color television set. Proceeds are used by the police to aid youth programs they sponsor.

Tickets may be obtained from any police officer or at the driving range. The event will be held rain or shine.

STUART 4-0 VICTOR

In Field Hockey. The Stuart Country Day School's varsity field hockey team won its season opener last week, defeating Peddie School, 4-0.

Two goals were scored by Michelle Newman while Gabrielle DiBianco and Anne-Marie Belli each added one. Other members on the varsity include captain Amy Drezner, Ann Plumb, Terri McKee, Kate Jackson, Andi McEvoy, Pat Crowell, Sue Lyle and goalie Kathryn Boyd.

The Stuart JV team also won, 4-0, over Peddie following the varsity game. Three goals were scored by Lili Townsend and one by Nicki King. Both teams are coached by Laura White.

NEW MANAGER NAMED

At Indoor Tennis Center. Doris Mapes has been named manager of the Princeton Indoor Tennis Center on Washington Road. She replaces John Conroy, manager of the Center since its inception, who has resigned to spend more time with his summer tennis camp at the Lawrenceville School and Williams College.

Mrs. Mapes has been with the Tennis center since ground was first broken in 1971, serving as assistant manager for the past five years. Previously, she was an active volunteer with the Princeton Community Tennis Program. She will be assisted by returning staff members Ginny Winegar, Merry Knowlton, Mary Lou Syberg and Jim Farrell, plus new staff members Bill Janney and Richard Parker.

Returning as full-time professional is John Gudzinowicz. Assisting with instruction will be Bill Humes, John Zorzi, Joe Diefenbach and Karen Bull.

The Indoor Center began its new season last week. Anyone who wishes further information should call Mrs. Mapes at 924-0015.

Knicks Will Oppose Philadelphia 76ers In Exhibition Basketball Game Saturday

When the New York Knicks and Philadelphia 76ers meet in a pre-season exhibition game in Jadwin Gymnasium Saturday, they may well be previewing a season-long battle for the final playoff spot in the NBA's Atlantic Division. The 8 p.m. contest, one of the continuing Jadwin Benefit Series, will generate funds to be donated to the Princeton Area United Community Fund and the Princeton Scholarship Fund.

Last season, the Knicks chased the 76ers down to the final week in a struggle to qualify for the post-season playoff series before losing out. The 76ers, finishing third, met the Buffalo Braves in the opening round and were defeated in a best-of-three series.

Both teams are looking for better things this fall despite the presence of the Boston Celtics and the Braves in the Atlantic Division. The Knicks, still seeking to bolster the center position, which has been a problem since the retirement of Willis Reed and Jerry Lucas, picked up a promising front court addition when they acquired former Columbia standout Jim McMillian. The ex-Lion, whom Jadwin fans will recall from his appearances here against the Tigers' Jeff Petrie and John Hummer in the late '60s, has shown well with both Buffalo and the Los Angeles Lakers. McMillan's presence in the Knicks' lineup with Bill Bradley would give the New Yorkers a 40 percent Ivy makeup—a real rarity in NBA action.

Philadelphia, without the services of high scoring Billy Cunningham for most of last season, hopes that his return will add even more firepower to the 76er arsenal. The Sixers signed one of pro basketball's top prospects last year when they picked up big George McGinnis from the Indianapolis Pacers of the now defunct ABA.

Tickets at $6 are on sale weekdays from 9 until 5 at the Jadwin ticket office. The telephone number is 452-3538.
